Joint Committee Will Hear Recommendations for Cuts In Defeated School Budget

The future of the 1991-92 school budget has now moved into the hands of a subcommittee composed of three Borough and three Township representatives. The group, which began meeting this week, will submit its recommendations to a joint Borough Council-Township Committee meeting on Friday.

The meeting, at 6 p.m., will be followed by a second meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m., at which the two municipalities will decide which, if any, school budget cuts will be made. Both meetings will be held in the Valley Road building.

Borough members of the subcommittee are Mayor Marvin Reed, Councilwoman Mildred Trotman, and Councilman David Goldfarb. Representing the Township are Deputy Mayor Ellen Souter, Township Administrator James Pascale, and Chief Financial Officer Himanshu Shah.

At last week's initial meeting of the governing bodies, School Board, and school administrators on the defeated school budget, Board President Joel Cooper sought restraint in making cuts. "The budget barely allows us to provide the educational services that bring people to the Princeton Regional Schools," he said.

Board members and administrators appeared unenthusiastic about Councilman Goldfarb's suggestion that a portion of the surplus be put into the budget to reduce the tax rate. Each $135,000 in revenues added to the budget would mean a cut of one cent in the school tax: a half cent in each of the next two years.

Mr. Goldfarb then suggested that the policy of allowing children of Princeton Regional staff to attend the schools free of charge might be halted. The

Township Takes Steps To Purchase Open Space

Heeding the pleas of naturalists, historians and bird watchers to keep the options open for purchasing The Institute Woods and 33 acres of Tusculum, Township Committee agreed Monday night to take several steps toward accepting the Green Acres funding that has been offered for these two tracts of land.

However, Mayor Richard C. Woodbridge and the two Republican members of Committee warned that they were doing so only to "preserve the option" and that they would not endorse purchasing either tract without significant private funding to spare the taxpayer.

About 40 people showed up at the meeting to show their support for preserving these two areas of open space. Of the 17 who signed up to speak, only one,

Biggest Impression Left by Bush's Brief Visit Was Elaborate Planning and Security Precautions

When President George Bush came to town last Friday, very few people managed to catch a glimpse of him in person.

Security precautions were extraordinarily elaborate, the visit lasted barely two hours, and the President's exposure to the public was limited to a handwave or two as the limousine taking him from Nassau Hall, where he received an honorary degree, sped down Nassau Street toward the building dedication ceremony at which he was to give a speech. Mr. Bush came to participate in the dedication of Princeton University's new and renovated buildings for politics, economics and international studies.

The visit was planned down to the minute, and to the University's relief everything went almost exactly according to the script. The President and Mrs. Bush flew from Washington to McGuire Air Force Base aboard Air Force One. They boarded a Marine helicopter for the 10-minute flight to Princeton, landing in Palmer Stadium.

Originally, Princeton President Harold T. Shapiro and his wife were to have greeted him at the stadium, but most scripts undergo at least one re-write, and this one was no exception. Mr. Bush was reported to have spent the flight time from Washington to McGuire re-writing portions of the speech he was to deliver, which is why copies weren't available to the press in advance as expected.

Followed by vans filled with White House press, a limousine brought Mr. and Mrs. Bush up through the campus to a white, totally enclosed tent at the south end of Nassau Hall. The time was about 15 minutes later than promised in the script. Protestors gathered in the area between Whig and Clio Halls had begun chanting shortly before the limousine pulled up, but when the President arrived, there were approving cheers and whistles mingled with the chants.

Across Nassau Street, at the corner of Witherspoon, a small group of onlookers had gathered behind the yellow police tapes. Standing by a van parked outside Nassau Hall, two men dressed in what looked to be baggy blue paratrooper uniforms and black boots surveyed the crowd with extra long binoculars. A young man in dark grey business suit with the Secret Service pin in his lapel stood nearby with an alert dog of the Great Dane type. Overhead, state police figure of 61 students was used, although Board Member Corinne Kyle said later in the discussion that the number might be as low as 41.

"Our experience has shown that when a teacher has a child in the district, he or she is very concerned about education," said Board Member Ann McGoldrick.

The policy was also defended by Ms. Kyle, who said that if the child were in the high school, it would cost nothing because it would help the school maintain its program if enrollment were not high. Superintendent of Schools Carol Choye pointed out that elementary school students are placed on a space-available basis in the three elementary schools.

Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand noted that a cost of $10,000 would not be too far off in figuring the cost of each free student. "This is a big amount for taxpayers to pay for this agreement," she said.

The 101 sending students from Cranbury are currently charged tuition of $10,338 each.

A budget item of $26,000 for a negotiations consultant was questioned. Such a consultant is needed in all labor disputes, said Board Secretary Robert Rader.

"I am concerned that the personnel staff does not direct negotiations," said Mr. Freda, who added that this practice was common in large organizations.

"Most other models require an experienced person or have an attorney as a regular member of the administration," responded Dr. Cooper.

Only Member to Vote No

Gerald Groves was the only School Board member to vote against the budget. Councilman Roger Martindell asked for his reasons.

Dr. Groves said he was concerned about the process that had taken place, which largely focused on maintaining the programmatic profile of the schools by cutting out programs equitably and trying to alienate as few members of the community as possible.

"If we had proceeded to address the objectives the programs were designed to meet," he added, "we could have been more creative."

A portion of the meeting was reserved for public comment. Among the points made was that the foreign language program was being weakened; that administrative salaries were too high; and that a hard look should be taken at salary increases for the administrative staff, whose new contracts are currently under negotiation with the School Board. (A salary for Dr. Choye will be negotiated after a settlement with administrators is reached.)

It was further suggested that the School Board look at half-day kindergarten and a staggered bus schedule as ways of saving money in future years.

What to Do This Year

"We must look at what we can do this year," said Township resident Michael Littman. "I agree salaries are high, but we can't do anything this year." He added that it was not reasonable to expect the school budget to come in below its current 8.6 percent increase, because it would require cutting staff, which the District has already done. "We might not want to do that in a two-week period," he added.

There is a very tight time frame for the municipalities to reframe the budget. The defeat took place on April 30; the Borough and Township have until May 22 to submit a revised document.

Township Mayor Dick Woodbridge also commented on this. "There is too much information," he said, "and too little time." Councilman Freda agreed: "There is a very limited time to digest a vast amount of information," he said.

Township resident William Enslin said the schools were facing loss of State aid at the same time that costs, such as the opening of Johnson Park School, are going up. There are good teachers in the system, and they need to be empowered, he said. "This is not being done. If teachers are given powers to make decisions, you don't need a support staff."

"We need a strategic planning process to decide priorities," he added, "to talk to neighborhoods and ask for an important list of courses. There is a smorgasbord now, with no rationale."

The focus of the meeting then reverted to the governing bodies, which appointed the six-member subcommittee to look at the budget in more detail and report back to Council and Committee.

Mrs. Souter said she needed justification of line items in the budget. Mr. Pascale, mentioning a figure of $837,000 for Operations and Plant, said he needed an itemized list of how this total was arrived at.

Different Budget Methods

"I feel a need to protect our administration," said Dr. Cooper. "Because of precedent or State statute, we have different ways of doing a budget. We will do the best we can in converting our form of budget to yours, but I don't want our administration to say there will be a complete justification of all line items by Friday."

Mr. Goldfarb said he was a little concerned because this information should be available.

"We don't want a program budget, we want a line item budget," Mr. Pascale pursued. "Let us take a look at what you have and we will tell you what we need," said Mr. Goldfarb.

Mayor Reed told Board members that, if they waited for the governing bodies to come up with a magic number, "you'll get a much higher number than you want." No member of the School Board or administration suggested an amount that might be cut from the budget. Ms. Kyle did say, however, that she would refuse to participate in a dialogue where $4 million was being cut."

Township resident Harry Levine, a former School Board member, said he totally disagreed with the process being followed. "You are on the verge of conducting an inquisition without any background. The questions tonight engendered defensiveness. You are getting an appropriate response from the School Board."

Mr. Levine suggested that the governing bodies work together with the Board to find a range of budget cuts.

"We sort of tried that," said Mr. Goldfarb.

After the two municipalities submit the revised budget on May 22, the School Board has 15 days to appeal to the State Commissioner of Education, John Ellis. Mr. Ellis must also adjudicate if the Borough and Township come up with different amounts to be cut from the school budget.

ANOTHER CASE OF ARSON? A fire of suspicious origin consumed an abandoned house on Cherry Valley Road, near Nelson Ridge Road last Thursday. The blaze, which was spotted around 5:30 p.m. was allowed to continue by firemen, so that the remains could be bulldozed. However, as there was no electricity running into the structure, arson is a distinct possibility, the third such case in the Hopewell area in the past five months.

Budget Hearing Held But Adoption Must Wait

Borough Council last week held a public hearing on the Borough's 1991 municipal budget. There were no comments from any members of the public on the $12,854,854 budget, which is up 3.8 percent from last year.

Property tax in the Borough is expected to rise nine cents this year, for an increase of 2.6 percent.

The municipal budget is going up three cents; the school budget is currently scheduled to rise 15 cents; and the Mercer County budget is expected to decrease by nine cents.

The school tax accounts for 48.3 percent of the property tax bill; the County tax 28.9 percent; and the Borough municipal tax 22.8 percent.

On the basis of this budget, the owner of property assessed at $150,000 will pay an additional $45 in municipal tax.

Council will have to wait for approval from the State before it can officially adopt the 1991 municipal budget.

In other business, Council adopted a resolution giving jurisdiction to the Local Finance Board of the State Department of Community Affairs to govern and guide the conduct of local government officers or employees regarding violations of provisions of the State's recently enacted Local Government Ethics Law.

The Borough could have established its own Municipal Ethics Board, but Council felt it would be simpler to use the services of the State.

Council members agree that, since Princeton has a reputation for honesty in government, there was no point in setting up a Borough board.

The new law establishes financial disclosure requirements for local government officers or employees serving a municipality.

Council also approved a professional service agreement with Constance Greiff to review the State Department of Transportation's plans for the widening of the Harry's Brook bridge on Route 27 in Princeton Township. Hiring Ms. Greiff, well known for her expertise in historic preservation, was recommended by the Circulation Committee of the Regional Planning Board.

Pancake Festival

The Princeton Rotary Club will hold its annual pancake festival in the Nassau Inn courtyard, on Hulfish Street, on Saturday between 8 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Pancakes with a variety of exotic toppings will be cooked by the chefs of the Nassau Inn.

The pancake festival is one of only two fund-raising activities held by the club during the year. All money raised is used to sponsor student scholarships and support Princeton organizations such as the Boy Scouts and the soccer program.

Cost for the eat-all-you-want breakfast is $5. Tickets may be obtained from any Rotary Club member or bought at the door on Saturday.

Banyra, in a memo to Mayor and Council, said the committee was concerned not only with the widening, but with the opportunity it will provide for the future widening of Route 27 through the Borough.

The agreement is for a total of $750, of which the Borough's share is $262.50.

Construction Contract Is Due to be Signed

A contract with Pierson Construction Co. to reconstruct Witherspoon Street and Palmer Square, and to complete the repaving of Hulfish Street, was expected to be signed at the Borough Council meeting scheduled for Tuesday night, May 14.

The several-weeks delay in executing the contract resulted from a court complaint filed by Public Developers, which alleg-

TRENTON ROUNDUP

Early Retirement Bill Signed

A bill to save the State millions of dollars by allowing certain State employees to take early retirement has been signed into law by Gov. Jim Florio.

Some 5,600 State employees are eligible under the law to retire early. About 1,800 will take up the offer, State officials have predicted.

Employees in the Public Employees' Retirement System and the Teachers' Pension and Annuity Fund will receive an additional five years' service credit if they are at least 50 years old and have at least 25 years' service. If they are at least 60 years old and have 20 to 24 years of service, they will receive free health benefits for the life of the member and dependents while the member is living.

Similar early retirement legislation for county and municipal workers and the state police are currently moving through the Legislature.

Ending Superintendents' Tenure

The Senate Education Committee has released for a vote a measure that would eliminate lifetime tenure for all future New Jersey school superintendents. A similar bill that would continue lifetime job protection for currently tenured superintendents was approved by the Assembly Education Committee two weeks ago.

Sen. Gerald Stockman, D-Trenton, the bill's sponsor, said that New Jersey is the only State that protects top school administrators with tenure.

State House Renovation

A Senate Committee has approved a $64 million State House renovation project, thus moving the measure to the Senate for consideration. The project would be funded by the sale of State Building Authority bonds.

Included in the $64 million is $28 million to build a 1,100-space underground parking garage for legislators, staff, and visitors to the State house; $11 million to renovate the gold dome atop the State House and outdated electrical and other systems in the original State House; and $10 million for additional renovations to the State House Annex.

Seat Belts in School Buses

A bill that would require all newly purchased school buses in the State to be equipped with seat belts has been passed by a Senate committee and will now be sent to the full Senate for consideration.

Phyllis Scheps, spokeswoman for the New Jersey Parent Teachers Association, said, "This is going to prevent injuries and save lives."

ed the Borough could not remove Chambers Street from the four streets named in the bid. Had Chambers Street not been removed, Public Developers would have been the lowest bidder.

Chambers was taken out for several reasons, including the fact that the Borough had not received the State aid it had hoped for. Also, it was felt that, in light of the unexpected utility and Department of Transportation work on Nassau Street this spring and summer, it would be better to reduce the scope of the Borough's reconstruction in the Central Business District this year.

On Tuesday morning, Judge Paul Levy dismissed Public

Developers' complaint, holding that the Borough had the right to select one of the 15 alternatives specified in the bidding request.

The delay resulting from the legal action will probably cause the work on Witherspoon and Palmer Square to run several weeks behind schedule, said Borough Engineer Carl Peters. It would be possible, however, to accelerate the schedule through a change order, but this would add to the cost.

Mr. Peters is hoping that construction on Witherspoon can begin May 28. When it starts, the street will be closed in the section being worked on, either from Wiggins to Spring or from Spring to Nassau.

The State is expected to begin its night-time repaving of Nassau Street on June 1. Mr. Peters believes the work will commence at the eastern end of Nassau, near Markham Road, since the utilities have not yet completed their work on the western end.

Another Round Ahead In Sacks-Wilner Trial?

Grousing that their matrimonial differences in court had become a media circus, Borough Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. Monday fined both Steven Sacks-Wilner, the chief counsel for the state Senate Minority Office, and his estranged wife, Joanne Krupp in municipal court.

Mr. Sacks-Wilner, 41, of East Ridge Road, Skillman, was fined $525 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board on a charge of harassment brought by Ms. Krupp, 39, who now lives in New York City. Ms. Krupp was fined $1,025 and $30 VCCB on a charge of assault stemming from a car-dragging incident on Park Place last November 18th. She was found not guilty on a second charge of reckless driving but Judge Annich revoked her driving privileges for 90 days. Both charges were brought by Ptl. Edward Sullivan.

The sentences were then stayed by Judge Annich, pending a formal notice by both parties of an intent to appeal. Both Mr. Sacks-Wilner, who was represented by attorney John Fulong, and Ms. Krupp, represented by attorney Steven Lieberman, said after Monday's three-hour hearing that they would appeal Judge Annich's decision to the state Superior Court.

The couple are in the process of divorce proceedings in Somerset County and engaged in a custody battle over their 3-year-old son, Justin. Mr. Sacks-Wilner is also suing his wife for injuries and damages he sustained last November.

"Both parties have let their matrimonial differences spill onto the streets of Princeton," Judge Annich stated. Reports of their trial have been featured on the front page of area newspapers.

"If I didn't work for the state Senate," complained Mr. Sacks-Wilner to a group of reporters outside the courtroom later, "you wouldn't be writing this story." The trial has affected his reputation, he said, adding: "It's very sad when this happens to a family."

Went Back for Shoes

Court testimony, some of it divergent, revealed what had taken place between the two in November.

Mr. Sacks-Wilner, who had custody of his son for the week-end, had just transferred Justin from his car to Ms. Krupp's when he said he remembered that he had forgotten to retrieve a pair of his brown loafers from her Jeep Wagoneer.

Witnesses testified that he pursued Ms. Krupp's car, honking his horn, until she was forced to stop by another car backing out on Park Place. He then, according to a witness, ran up to her car and began pounding on the window, demanding his shoes.

Ms. Krupp testified that she was afraid and became even more fearful as her former husband began banging on the window. "He stuck his hand in the car and was screaming. He was frantic." After Ms. Krupp had rolled the window down just enough to pass out the shoes, Mr. Sacks-Wilner told Judge Annich that he then noticed something on the back seat which he thought were his personal papers. He reached in the window opening "up to his shoulders" trying to unlock the door when Ms. Krupp stepped on the accelerator. "I was yelling: Stop! Stop! But I couldn't get my arm out."

He was dragged along the roadway for some 20 feet, he said, until his former wife stopped the car, got out, handed him some paper towels for his cuts. He testified she said, "Get up. You've done this before." Mr. Sacks-Wilner reported that he sustained injuries to his face, arm and hand and was treated at Princeton Medical Center. He produced pictures showing a swollen face and lacerations as evidence of the injuries he received in falling from the car.

Ms. Krupp countered that she was unaware her husband's arm was still in the car when she drove off. She stopped at once, she said, when she heard a thump.

"Even though we've had problems," she said, "I had no intention of hurting him. I love my husband."

Grease Traps Proposed For Princeton Restaurants

The Princeton Sewer Operating Committee has proposed that restaurants in the Borough and Township be required to install grease traps that would catch grease before it gets into the sanitary sewer system.

Borough Council was scheduled to hold a public hearing last Tuesday night on an ordinance requiring "grease interceptors" at restaurants and other retail eating establishments. The Township introduced a similar ordinance Monday night but set August 1 as the date the ordinance would take effect, thus giving restaurant owners some time to implement it.

According to J.B. Smith, PSOC chairman, grease hardens as it collects in the sewer line and "can be a real problem." Mr. Smith described a ball of grease "hard as marble" that plugged a line on Spring Street, and talked about a sewer back-up between Braeburn and Snowden Lane that occurred at a place where there is some 1200 feet between accessible manholes.

"The cost is not inconsiderable," he remarked, estimating the cost of installation between $1,500 and $5,000. "Of course it has to be maintained and cleaned out periodically," Mr. Smith added. The enforcing officer for Borough and Township would be Martin Dorward, PSOC manager acting sanitary engineer.

The public hearing will be at a meeting of Committee on Wednesday, June 5, starting at 7. This meeting is in place of a meeting on Monday, June 3, which is the night before the primary election. There will be a public hearing on an ordinance to set up a committee to review complaints filed by citizens in regard to police actions and behavior, among other ordinances up for public hearing before final adoption.

Committee will be engaged in a joint meeting with the Borough on the School Board budget this Monday, but will devote some time at the beginning of the meeting to Township business. The 1991 Township municipal budget is expected to be adopted at this time.

New Building Approved For Princeton Campus

The Planning Board has approved a new Center for Jewish Life to be constructed at the corner of Washington Road and Ivy Lane on the Princeton University campus. The vote last Thursday, following a hearing at which no one from the public was present to speak either for or against, was unanimous.

Designed by the well-known residential architect Robert Stern, the new structure will replace an existing building now being demolished. A long structure facing Ivy Lane on the east, but with the entrance from Washington Road, it will contain 17,264 square feet of space to be used for both religious and social events. The height, which will vary with the terrain, is proposed to be three stories along Ivy Lane and 2½ stories to the rear.

The Center will include a sanctuary, recreation areas, dining rooms, kitchens, classrooms, a library and auditorium. It will consolidate activities that now occur at the dining club at 83 Prospect Avenue as well as the Friday night services held at Murray-Dodge. The new facility is to be used primarily by the University; however it will be open to non-university guests for social and religious events.

According to Jon Hlafter, Princeton University director of physical planning, students embracing the three different branches of Judaism now use three different locations on campus. This center will be one place where members of all three "may share and rejoice in their common tradition," Mr. Hlafter told the board.

A Reprise On Monday By Whistling Flasher

Township police this week say they believe the man who has exposed himself twice on the top floor of the Princeton Medical Center parking garage is the same person. Both incidents involved hospital employees and came within six days of each other.

The most recent occurred Monday afternoon. As a 48-year-old Mercerville resident was leaving her car, she heard a whistle. Turning around, she saw a white male standing in the stairwell door of the garage, exposing his genitals. She notified hospital security which called Township police.

"Let the Good Times Roll"

On Monday, May 27 — Memorial Day and Barbara Boggs Sigmund's 52nd birthday — everyone in Princeton will have a chance to honor the late Borough Mayor and to do what she loved to advise: Let the good times roll.

On that day, a block party and picnic will be held between 1 and 6 p.m. on Hamilton Avenue between Chestnut Street and Linden Lane. The street will be closed and there will be good jazz music as well as food — both brought and sold. Westminster Choir College is also scheduled to open up part of its adjoining campus for the party.

Shortly after Mayor Sigmund died last October, the Borough formed a committee to come up with an idea on how best to honor her in her town.

The decision: Fill the area between the Chestnut Street playground and the Hamilton Avenue affordable houses with a garden, and name the new garden, and the playground, for Mayor Sigmund.

The area combines many things Barbara Sigmund held dear. Perhaps the Borough's staunchest advocate of affordable housing, she supported it for many reasons, not the least of which was her desire that the Borough maintain the racial and economic diversity that few outside its borders realize exists.

Also, Mrs. Sigmund and several members of Council, including Mildred Trotman, met frequently with neighborhood residents to help design the refurbished playground. The Mayor also launched the Adopt-A-Park program, encouraging Princeton resident David Sengstack to contribute $5,000 toward the Hamilton Avenue playground.

At 4 p.m. on Memorial Day — rain or shine — the new garden will be dedicated in Barbara Sigmund's name. The only plants and flowers, however, will be borrowed ones, and the plaque, on which will be included the instruction to "let the good times roll," will not yet be ready.

There will, however, be a landscape design, contributed by Landscape Architects Emily Reeves and Louise Huttner. And Council President Mildred Trotman, a member of the planning committee, is hoping that people will contribute money so that the Borough can buy plants and flowers. These will be either pink or purple, Mayor Sigmund's favorite colors. (Mauve would probably do, too; she had a soft spot in her heart for it.)

It is suggested that people bring picnic baskets with them, although food such as hot dogs, ribs, and chicken will be available for purchase. The music will be provided by the Princeton High School Jazz Band and the Bill Lacy Jazz Band, from the Trenton area.

Organizers hope this celebration will become an annual event. So, let the good times roll.

Last Tuesday afternoon, a 25-year-old Trenton resident was leaving her car when, she, too, heard someone whistle, turned, and saw a six-foot, white male standing near the stairwell with his pants down. He was wearing a hot pink knit shirt.

The victim continued walking into the Medical Center where she reported the incident to security. In both instances, Township police responded and searched the area without finding the suspect.

Two Students Assaulted In Tiger Inn Basement

Two student club members of the Tiger Inn were assaulted early Saturday morning by four black males whom they discovered playing pool in the club basement.

According to police, when the students discovered the young men playing pool around 2:30 in the morning, they asked them to leave. Both were assaulted and punched and later treated for contusions and abrasions at McCosh Infirmary on campus and released, Capt. Peter Hanley reported.

All the suspects are described as being about 5-10 in their late teens.

23 Letters Are Damaged In Wiggins Mailbox Fire

Twenty-three of 70 pieces of mail were damaged last week when someone dropped some matches in a post office drop box on Wiggins Street near Greenview.

The criminal mischief incident occurred just before 6 Thursday evening. Police and one fire truck responded to the scene. After extinguishing the fire, they pried open the box, ascertained the damage and then notified postal authorities. Police found some matches inside the box, Capt. Peter Hanley reported.

In another act of mischief, five marble seat tops outside the Bon Appetit deli in the Princeton Shopping Center were damaged last week by an unknown object.

According to Lt. Mario Musso, the seats, valued at $200 each, were part of a newly-created picnic area outside the store. The vandalism took place overnight and was discovered last Wednesday morning.

Stereo and Tapes Stolen From Parked Car in Lot

An AM/FM cassette stereo player, tapes, compact discs and a sweater, valued at a combined $956, were stolen last week from a car parked in the Tulane West yard.

The car, a two-door Suzuki, has a canvas top and a rear window that can be unzipped from the outside, police said. The victim is a resident of Lawrenceville.

Another golf cart — the second within the past month — has been stolen from the Springdale Golf Club. This one, valued at $600 with the keys in the ignition, was taken between 10:30 and 11 last Wednesday evening. Early this week, police report it is still missing.

A combination phone and answering machine valued at $200 was taken overnight last week from an office in Dickinson Hall on campus — there was no forced entry — and a student's navy blue, waist-length coat has been reported stolen from a coat room in Tiger Inn. It is valued at $82.

Last week, a Township resident left her wallet in a phone booth outside the Garden Theater on Nassau Street. She returned ten minutes later but the wallet containing $250 was gone.

An American Flag valued at $200 was stolen during the weekend from a flag pole just inside the St. Paul's Church Cemetery off Nassau Street, and an assortment of doughnuts, danish pastries and bagels worth $11 were stolen between 3 and 4 Monday morning from an outside delivery bin in front of the Wawa Store on Nassau Street.

Purloined Camisole

"Here's something a little unusual," began Lt. Mario Musso of the Township as he related the case of the purloined camisole.

A 22-year-old Skillman resident, he reported, had parked her car on Greenview Avenue in the Borough, blocking a driveway. It was towed to Larini's service station on Alexander Street.

When she went to retrieve her car the next day, she discovered that a purchase she had made at a Victoria's Secret store was missing from the front seat. Missing was an ivory camisole top and a pair of matching ivory pants valued at $58.

Two bicycles were stolen last week in the Township. A student's 18-speed Trek mountain bike valued at $320 was taken from the rear of Fine Tower. The victim, police said, had used a Kryptonite Lock to lock the rear tire to the frame but had not secured the bike to a fixed object.

A boy's 10-speed Ross bicycle worth $100 was taken from the grounds of John Witherspoon School where the victim had left it in a rack — unlocked.

Bike thefts were down in the Borough: only one was reported last week. A student's locked, black, $800 Trek model was taken from outside Firestone Library on the University campus.

Seven Drivers Are Fined In Borough Court Monday

Seven Princeton area drivers were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Fined $75 each are Stacy Emerick, 301 Cherry Valley Road, and Lucy McVicker of Rocky Hill, both careless driving; Philip G. Felton, 413 Alex-

Patrick D. Jackman, 26 Sherbrooke Drive, Princeton Junction, and Kym M. Neal, 261 Ewing Street, each paid $65 for speeding. Failure to have insurance card in possession cost Leon B. Kaplan, 19 Van Kirk Road, $30.

In Borough criminal court, Noel T. Smith, 162 Nassau Street, was fined $75 and $30 to the Violent Crime Compensation Board for theft. Deanna Gillette, 261 Griggs Drive, charged with theft and 11 counts of fraud had her papers forwarded to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

In Township court last week, Beth A. Brombert, 187 Library Place, and Janet M. Ostergren, 45 Greenbrier Row, were each fined $75, the latter for failing to observe a stop sign and Ms. Brombert for improper entering or leaving a highway.

Wayu Xing, 226B Marshall Street, was fined $215 for never having obtained a driver's license. Judge Annich also ruled that when Mr. Xing goes to apply for a license he will have to wait six months.

Planning 25th Reunion

The Princeton High School Class of 1966 is planning to hold its 25th reunion on November 29 and 30 in the Princeton Area.

implementing a Commissioner-approved desegregation plan.

In outlining the need for these funds, the grant application notes that a study this year has revealed disproportionate representation of students in selected programs and uneven performance by minority groups.

About 41 percent of black students are receiving some form of remedial education in the Princeton schools.

In 1979, a similar situation was documented in a report by Ruth Lotz, The Education of Black Students in the Princeton Regional Schools, which indicated a disproportionate number of black students in special education and remedial classes. Several other studies since 1979 have continued to make this point.

Thirteen percent of Princeton's school population of 2500 students is black; 7 percent Asian/Pacific Islander, and 6 percent Latino. The Latino population grew 103 percent between 1987 and October, 1990, from 74 to 150, and an additional 15 percent through April 15, 1991, for a total of 173 students.

Of the instructional staff, 9 percent are black and 1 percent Latino.

The California Achievement Test, a standardized test, shows the District average for reading for grades 1-4 was between 64 and 73 percent on the national percentile scale. Average scores for the Black/Hispanic segment fell 12.5 to 28.2 percentage points below the District average. The performance of the black and Hispanic students dropped as the students moved up grade by grade, from the 58 percent level on the national percentile scale in the first grade to 40 percent in the fourth grade.

The average scores for the Black/Hispanic segment of the student population were 26 to 30 percentage points below the District average in language, Minority student participation in the performing arts at the high school is low. Of 371 students who participate, no Latino students are enrolled in instrumental or vocal music or drama; two black students participate in instrumental music; five black students participate in vocal music; and one black student is enrolled in the drama program.

The District would use the State funds to strengthen and renew teacher skills; involve parents and community in school-home partnership; and systemically renovate the curriculum to provide for multicultural curriculum development and implementation, particularly in language arts and social studies.

Specifically, the District's grant proposal calls for the establishment of an academic and general support network for Latino students entering at the secondary school age; a new configuration of basic skills instruction; an enhanced performing arts program; and enhanced math, science, and technology education.

The second annual antique and exotic car show will be held at the Princeton Shopping Center on Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Youth Employment Service of Princeton and the Intergenerational Program of Princeton High School.

Circus is Coming

The Great American Circus will be at the Princeton Shopping Center Thursday, May 23, for two shows, one at 5 and the other at 8 p.m. The circus is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area.

Tent raising will be at 8 a.m., and everyone is invited to watch as the circus elephants raise the big tent in the time-honored circus tradition. In addition to the big elephants, the Great American Circus has a bunch of baby elephants named Heather, Donna, Lisa and Billy who perform right along with their mothers, Janet and Irene.

There are also performing poodles, trained birds, chimpanzees and a bear or two. The acts include jugglers, acrobats and clowns.

Ticket prices on show day are $12 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under. The Chamber of Commerce is raising money for free tickets for area children who otherwise would not be able to attend.

ANTIQUE CARS HERE: Anticipating the cars to appear at the second annual Princeton Antiqua and Exotic Car Show at the Princeton Shopping Center on Saturday are, from left, John Bleimeier, show chair; Hanneke Calmon, director of Princeton High School's intergenerational programs; Howard Hooper, owner of a 1937 Lagonda, which will be exhibited; and Janet Townsend, president of Youth Employment Service.

Last year, some 60 cars from all over New Jersey participated, and more are expected this year. They included a 1909 Buick Roadster, a 1929 Stutz, a 1936 Rolls Royce, a 1956 Mercedes Benz 190 SL Roadster, and a 1969 Camaro Musclicar.

Advance registration for an automobile is $10 ($20 on the day of show). General admission is $1.

For more information about registering a car, advertising in the illustrated program, or attending, call John K. Bleimeier, 924-7073, or 466-1718 evenings, or Hanneke Calmon, 683-4480, extension 38.

New Look, New Name For Used Clothing Shop

The Princeton Day School Parents' Association has announced the remodeling of the Nearly New Shop, formerly called The Outgrown Shop, which sells a full line of previously owned clothing for adults and children.

All money raised by the Nearly New Shop is applied to the Princeton Day School Scholarship Fund. Last year the Nearly New Shop raised $50,000 through the sale of donated and consigned clothing.

Karen Marquis, co-chairman of the Nearly New Shop, said, "We decided to change our name because the old name — The Outgrown Shop — implied we were offering only children's clothing. In fact, we offer a full range of very high quality

Triangle Club's 100 Years Documented in Exhibit

An exhibition celebrating Triangle Club's first 100 years is on view in the main exhibition gallery of Firestone Library.

While they may not have realized how successful their new venture would be, the cast of Po-ca-hon-tas, or the Gentle Savage, staged in 1890-1891, called themselves the Princeton College Dramatic Association. Their first playbill is full of the fun and irreverence for which the group has become known over the past century. They called their production "An original oboriginal erratic operatic semi-civilized and demi-savage extravaganza," warning their audience that the show consisted of "old music dislocated and re-set, new music composed and executed especially for this performance... new words thrown together and tacked in place by the necessity of circumstances... one act slipped in incidentally to take up time... jokes dug up and resuscitated, ground out and tied together."

Dancing boys disguised as girls made their appearance in the persons of "three little maidens, lovers of Terpsichore, at school in the Tuscarora Academy" and named Pootipet, Di-mon-de, and Lum-pa-shuga, and the famous "Triangle kick line" had its beginning.

However, there has long been controversy over which was the first true Triangle show, for soon after the production of Po-ca-hon-tas the organization changed its name to the Princeton Triangle Club. The first production under the new name was The Honorable Julius Caesar, coauthored by Booth Tarkington and George Post Wheeler. Tarkington also was featured as Cassius in the first production of this play.

Through photographs, playbills, posters, correspondence, music scores, and a variety of other documents, the exhibition traces the history of the Club, its productions, and its changing relationship to the University community, alumni, students, and audiences it serves.

The exhibition will be on view through September 8.

Sociology Prof. to Speak To Family Service Group

The annual meeting of Family Service Princeton Area will be held Wednesday, May 22, at Congregation Beth Chaim, 329 Village Road East, Princeton Junction. Suzanne Keller, professor of sociology at Princeton University, will be the featured speaker.

The agency, nationally accredited and a member of Family Service America and the Princeton Area United Way, is celebrating its 93rd year of operation. It offers services in the areas of substance abuse, family counseling, children's services, day care services for frail elderly and Employee Assistance Programs. In addition, it administers the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund for direct financial relief to troubled and needy families.

During the past year, the P.A.C.E. (Princeton Activities Center for the Elderly) program, open three days per week, has expanded daily hours of operation from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. In a joint arrangement with the Princeton Red Cross, effective June 1, transportation will be expanded to include additional persons in the program.

Funds from the J. Seward Johnson Charitable Trust have provided much needed support for the substance abuse, individual and family counseling programs in the Princeton office.

In addition, Family Service is currently conducting a research project to measure how much change has taken place in individuals who received counseling in the agency's I.D.R.C. (Intoxicated Driver Resource Center) program. Future plans involve a study of the effectiveness of the children's programs.

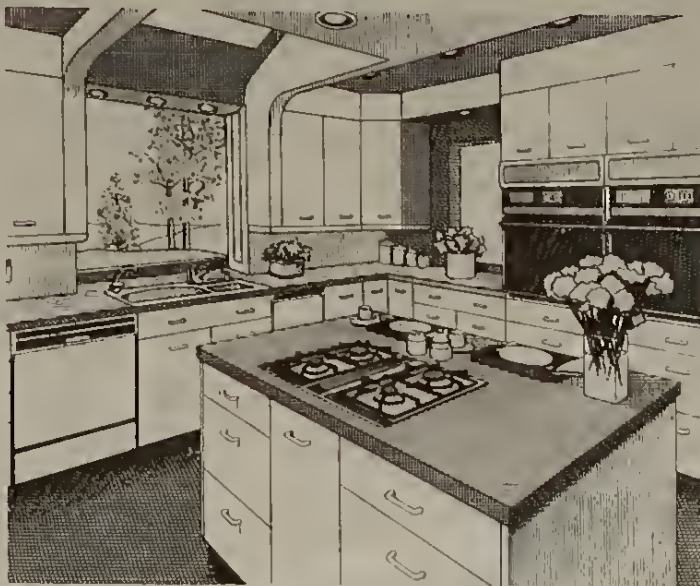

Dr. Keller is a Family Service board member, psychotherapist, and the first woman to be granted tenure at Princeton University. She will examine the problems of families in the broader world, and discuss how Family Service attempts to support families as they approach the challenges of the nineties.

The public is invited to attend at 8 p.m.

Storytelling Evening Set At the Public Library

Princeton Public Library will present storyteller Susan Danoff in a program for adults and children 7 and older on Tuesday evening at 7:30. Free tickets for the performance are available at the Library or may be reserved by calling 924-9529.

Ms. Danoff has developed an extensive repertoire of international folktales and has performed in many schools, libraries, and museums including the Smithsonian, the Geraldine R. Dodge Poetry Festival, the International Children's Festival at Wolf Trap, the Detroit Institute of Arts, and the 92nd Street Y.

Ms. Danoff teaches storytelling to undergraduates at Princeton University and at numerous teacher workshops and leads an intensive week-long summer residency in storytelling for adults at Princeton University in August.

This program, one in an ongoing series by outstanding storytellers, is made possible by a grant to the Library from the Princeton Youth Fund. For more information, call the Library at 924-9529.

New Director Named For Princeton House

Gregory A. McBride has been named director of addictions programs for Princeton House, the psychiatric and addictions services unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. McBride is responsible for both inpatient and outpatient addictions services, for reviewing and revising current programming and for designing and implementing new programs to fit the needs of the community.

Under his direction, Princeton House addictions services will be expanded to a full range of intensive outpatient programs including relapse prevention, family and co-dependency programs. Long-range plans include integrating intensive inpatient programs with ongoing outpatient programs to offer the patient long-term commitment and continuity of treatment.

Mr. McBride formerly was coordinator of the dual diagnosis program at the Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead. Prior to his position at Carrier, Mr. McBride was a mental health clinician for the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey-Community Mental Health Center.

Currently, Mr. McBride sits on the board of directors of the Hudson River Valley Is Destination of Trip

The Historical Society of Princeton will lead a spring excursion to the Hudson River Valley on Tuesday to discover Wilderstein, feast at the Culinary Institute, and relish the splendors of the Vanderbilts.

Wilderstein, a 45-acre riverfront estate in Rhinebeck, built in 1852 by Thomas Holy Suckley, is rarely open to visitors. His granddaughter, Margaret Suckley, was born at Wilderstein in 1891, and still resides there today. The estate includes a Tiffany salon and grounds designed by Calvert Vaux, who selected hundreds of rare trees and built footbridges and gazebos in the romantic style.

Lunch will be served at the Culinary Institute, founded in 1946 as the premier cooking school of America. Following lunch, the group will take a brief guided tour of the facilities. The group will also tour the Vanderbilt mansion. Built between 1880 and 1900, it was designed by McKim, Mead and White, and furnished in all of the Louis styles.

The tour coordinator is Eva Schwab. The cost of the trip is $70 per person, which includes transportation, admissions, lunch, and an $8 non-refundable, tax-deductible contribution to the Historical Society; nonmembers pay $5 extra. The tour is limited to 40 people.

For further information and reservations, call the Historical Society at 921-6748.

Day of Climbing, Etc. For Youth Ages 11-15

The Princeton Family YMCA will offer a day of climbing, hiking, and rappelling for ages 11 through 15 on Saturday, June 1, at Ralph Stover State Park in Bucks County, Pa.

Cradlerock Inc., a certified climbing organization based in Princeton, will supply instructors and the equipment. The cost will be $50, which will cover transportation, instruction and special equipment. The van will leave the YMCA at 9 a.m. and return at 6 p.m.

Thrift Urged on Officials Examining School Budget

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I hope that the members of the Princeton Borough Council and Princeton Township Committee will be cognizant of some of the following concerns of many citizens of our Regional school district while they are examining the proposed school budget for 1991-92.

Besides studying the actual three budgets submitted by the School Board to the public on March 26, April 9 and April 16, I came away with the following impressions:

What can one think of a school system:

1) where only three or four students are taking Latin (and not offering Latin next year) yet has 15 enrolled in golf?

2) where a school board continues a more expensive and less productive Bilingual program — instead of TOESL (English-as-a-Second-Language) in which a student learns faster and retains more than in a bilingual program?

3) where the salary increases for teachers are over 27% for a three-year period, and where a teacher may work 4½ hours a day?

4) where a school system will have the highest paid teachers in the County in 1992-93 at $64,000, and 40% of them now earn over $50,000 a year (for a nine-month year)?

5) where the mandated "caps" for 1991-1992 are, New Jersey Education Association = 7.3%; New Jersey State = 7.5%; and Princeton = which can not even meet a 9.3% cap?

6) where we are faced with

May Market a Success For Stony Brook Club

To the Editor, Town Topics:
The Stony Brook Garden Club wants to thank the Nassau Inn and Palmer Square for all their help and support in making our annual May Market such a success last week.

All the proceeds from the May Market are applied to conservation and civic projects which benefit the community as a whole. How reassuring and rewarding it is to have the cooperation we had in making everyone's hard work so worthwhile.

an apparently high-powered School Board with a "charge-account" mentality (spend now, the taxpayer will pay later); and lastly, and probably most important,

7) where there are many citizens (and probably most — if they live within their means), who cannot afford this "padded" budget? Most senior citizens and people who have lived here over 30 years (and contributed much to this district) cannot afford this budget because their incomes do not rise to anywhere near 9.3% a year!

Most of us here in town hope that our municipal officials will not play politics and "keeping up with the Joneses" with this budget before submitting it to Trenton. Our elected officials must be objective and thrifty and honest with this problem; if they are not, then we, the taxpayers and citizens, have the prerogative to vote them out as well in June and November.

In the meanwhile, we will do all that we can to help them with this problem — which indeed belongs to all of us.

Thank You for Support Of Bryn Mawr Book Sale

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The 60th Annual Bryn Mawr Book Sale has just ended. Before we begin work on the 61st, the alumnae of Bryn Mawr College would like to express appreciation to friends, family and the community for their tremendous support of our effort to raise scholarship funds through the sale of used books.

To donors and buyers, often one and the same through the years, to the institutions that have housed our sale, to all who love the printed word, our heartfelt thanks.

Preservation

Henry J. Frank of Valley Road, urged Committee not to take on any new projects because doing so would raise taxes. Earlier, Committee was led through an economic analysis of preserving vs. developing the Institute woods and farmland by David Nissen of Cranbury. Dr. Nissen is a former Chase Bank executive and professor of economics and business administration who has his own economic consulting practice.

He asserted that allowing the Institute land to be developed at 250 single family homes would mean $2.8 million in school and municipal costs for Borough and Township. His figures are predicated on the assumption that new single family homes contribute more public school children (1.5 per household) than the average existing household (0.4 per household) and that a new school would be required, adding $1,500 to the annual operating cost which he calculates at around $10,000 per child.

Dr. Nissen's thesis is that it would add 17.2 cents to the tax rate paid by a Township resident if the land were developed, whereas paying off a $5.625 million Green Acres loan for the land would only add 4.5 cents. Further he states that the Borough's share of school costs associated with development of the Institute lands would add 31.6 cents to the Borough tax rate, and that development costs would rise with inflation, whereas the land acquisition costs would remain flat.

The Township has been offered a $7.5 million loan/grant package from Green Acres consisting of a $1.875 million grant and the $5.625 million loan at two percent interest per year for 20 years. Paying back this loan would obligate the Township for an annual payment of $343,000 a year for 20 years. This amount would service a loan of about $3.66 million if the Township were to float a bond issue at municipal rates of 6-7 percent instead of accepting the lower interest Green Acres money, according to Dr. Nissen's analysis.

The analysis was commissioned by the D&R Greenway, which has taken the lead in recent weeks in urging the Township to sign the necessary contracts with Green Acres for the package. According to Maud Backes, D&R Greenway director, signing the contracts does not obligate the Township to purchase the land but does obligate the state to reserve the money for a period of one to two years, during which time appraisals can be made and negotiations entered into.

The deadline for signing the contracts is July 8, but the state might grant a short extension. Later in the meeting Lyn Evers, assistant Township administrator, said that the municipality has one year from the date of signing the contracts with Green Acres to enter into a contract for the land, but that at any time during the year it can opt to drop the project and release the Green Acres funding.

Additional Funding

Ms. Backes said that the state has set aside an additional grant of $2 million by which it would "participate" in acquiring the 550-acres Institute property. Additional funding could be raised by D&R Greenway.

No one knows whether the Institute would sell the land or what price it would agree to.

Institute officials have maintained that they have no plans for developing the land. But the fact that the Institute once had a plan for development, which was withdrawn after strong objections from the community, and that it brought suit against the Planning Board for curtailing the allowable density on its property in the 1989 Master Plan revision is taken as an indication it might develop the property at some future date.

The $7.5 million Green Acres loan/grant is said to be the largest ever offered a municipality. Many feel that this is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and that state funding on this order of magnitude will not again be available for several years. "You are deciding tonight whether or not to terminate a Green Acres loan," Ms. Backes told Committee.

All the speakers, except for Mr. Frank, urged the Township to buy time by signing the necessary papers now. Historian Constance Greiff suggested that additional federal funds might be available, if federal authorities could be persuaded to expand a program for preserving Civil War battlefields to include an area that was important to the Battle of Princeton, turning point of the American Revolution.

Barbara Smoyer, speaking principally about Tusculum, said she thought private funds could be raised to pay one half the $750,000 Green Acres loan earmarked for the purchase of 33 acres in the back of that property. Most of the speakers urged the Township to take advantage of the opportunity to preserve the two tracts without suggesting how additional funds would be raised.

They spoke of the rarity of land that still looks much as it did in colonial and revolutionary times, and the importance to migrating and breeding birds. "When we point the finger at Brazil and Ecuador for cutting down their rainforests, we should be pointing the finger at ourselves, for these birds come back to Princeton to raise their young," said Carol Ann McCormick.

Important as Costa Rica

"Princeton is as important as Costa Rica [for birds]," she continued. "If there aren't the birds, maybe we won't want to live in Princeton any more."

Hans Sander, former chairman of the Planning Board, reminded Committee of the circumstances in which Mountain Lakes Nature Preserve was acquired. In 1987, there was no policy, he said, when a developer made a specific proposal for 25 building lots. The property was acquired with some Green Acres money but mostly as a consequence of a private gift.

Afterwards, members of the Planning Board drew up a list of similarly unprotected sites and assigned priority to each. The Institute Woods and Tusculum were both on the list at a high priority. Mr. Sander suggested a referendum to determine the will of the community to spend taxpayer money for such tracts.

Mayor Woodbridge said the next Township newsletter will contain a survey of Township residents on Tusculum and the Institute Woods. He reminded the audience that the Township had been able to reduce an eight cent increase forecast in the municipal tax rate to four cents, thanks to the redistribution of state Quality in Education Act funds.

He predicted that Griggs Farm will add 9.5 cents to the tax rate for 1992 and spoke gloomily of the negotiations over the school budget. "I've got to tell you there is going to be a whopping tax increase next year," the mayor said. "I don't necessarily support this purchase unless we get a lot of help" from other sources.

Because the sentiment of the evening had been strongly in favor of the Township keeping its options open, Mayor Woodbridge said he was willing to support several resolutions and the introduction of a bond ordinance to allow the Township to take the next steps.

One resolution was to replace a $750,000 bond ordinance at 6½ percent interest for 33 acres of the Tusculum property with a Green Acres loan for the same amount at two percent interest.

Another was to accept the Green Acres certification of the fair market value of $1,280,000 for the 33 acres. Still another was to accept the $7.5 million loan/grant package for the Institute woods.

Jean Osgood Smyth to Receive PDS Alumni Award

The 1991 Princeton Day School Alumni Award will be given to Jean Osgood Smyth of Princeton in honor of her many years of service to the Medical Center at Princeton. Mrs. Smyth is one of the hospital's all-time top volunteers and has donated more than 4,400 hours since she went on the volunteer rolls officially in 1954. Her affiliation with the hospital goes back another 20 years, however. Mrs. Smyth is not sure who actually got her interested in volunteering there, but thinks it could have been her mother who mentioned that help was needed.

She does remember that she and Frances Boice Sturges, a Miss Fine's School physical education teacher and a 1930 alumna, worked at the hospital in 1934 at a card table that was set up in the front hall to serve as the admitting desk. The hospital was much smaller in those days and Mrs. Smyth not only knew most of the doctors (there was only one surgeon) but most of the patients as well.

Although Princeton Hospital is now known as the Medical Center at Princeton and boasts new wings and modern equipment, Mrs. Smyth's work on the desk has not changed much over the years. She still knows many of the people who come in and her duties include greeting visitors, answering inquiries regarding patients and delivering flowers and newspapers. Her co-workers use such phrases about her as "delightful...witty...always pleasant...fun to be with."

When she entered Miss Fine's School as a fourth-grader in 1922, she could not have suspected that she would still be a part of the school in 1984. During that 62-year span Mrs. Smyth has been a student, alumna, parent, past parent, faculty, staff and even class secretary. She left Miss Fine's to attend Oldfields School in 10th grade but returned in 1937 as a primary teacher.

She also coached field hockey, basketball and baseball. She is quick to point out that "in those days girls played hardball, not this softball they play today."

In 1941, she married Robert Smyth, a Princeton Country Day School French teacher who died in 1988, and took a break from teaching and hospital work to raise a family. Her sons, Robert and Charles, both started school at Miss Fine's and moved over to PCD in fourth grade. In 1949, Mrs. Smyth substituted at PCD for a fourth-grade teacher. She subsequently returned to MFS as a teacher and secretary. By 1958, she was back at PCD again as secretary to Headmaster Peter Rothermel.

Jean Osgood Smyth

When the schools merged and moved to The Great Road in 1965, Mrs. Smyth travelled right along with them as secretary to Middle School Head Mike Merle-Smith. In those first few months of consolidation, there were many wrinkles to iron out, and Mrs. Smyth's knowledge of the founding schools and sense of humor helped to smooth the way.

In 1967, she began a 19-year career as secretary to three different admission directors, Richard Griggs, Wesley McCaughan and Dan Skvir. Mrs. Smyth retired in 1984 but is still called upon to help out. Last October she and former registrar Joan Baker helped organize the luncheon for MFS Headmistress Shirley Davis.

Mrs. Smyth is being honored in the 25th anniversary year of PDS, which also happens to be her 60th reunion. She will receive her award at Princeton Day School's alumni reunion on Saturday. The award ceremony will begin at 6 in the PDS Ice Hockey Rink. Further information may be obtained from Linda Stefanelli, alumni director, at 924-6700.

of research administration and planning for the Squibb Institute for Medical Research, a position he has held since 1985.

The New Jersey State Commission on Cancer Research provides funding for cancer research projects with monies received from the state cigarette tax.

Dr. Horovitz's nomination now goes before the New Jersey Senate for confirmation.

Princeton resident Gordon Harrison will perform with the Big Apple Chorus at 8 p.m. on June 1 at Carnegie Hall. The chorus is the New York City area's premiere men's a cappella singing group.

The concert will feature the chorus performing a broad range of popular music sung in unaccompanied four-part harmony, commonly referred to as "barbershop" harmony.

Kristl Alt, 17-year-old Princeton High School junior, placed sixth in the All-Around and earned a bronze medal in the ball event at the Rhythmic National Championship in Colorado Springs, Col. in May. She was also selected to represent the USA at the Konica Grand Prix Championship, May 24 to June 2, in Brisbane, Australia.

Jessica Bennett, daughter of Audrey Egger, 410 Nassau Street, and Arthur Bennett of New York City, has received the Anne Davidson Fellowship, to be used towards graduate study in the field of conservation.

Ms. Bennett, a 1987 graduate of Princeton High School, is a senior at Barnard College and has been on the dean's list for the past three years.

YMCA to Pay Tribute to Frank Clark, for Decades of Service As Youth Leader, Fund Raiser, Integrator and Bread Baker

The YMCA will pay tribute to Francis G. Clark for years of service to the YM and to youth of the community at a reception Sunday from 5:30 to 7:30 at the Henry Chauncey Conference Center at Educational Testing Service. Millard M. Riggs Jr., president of the YMCA board of directors will lead the tribute at 6:30.

Mr. Clark came to Princeton nearly 50 years ago as an associate secretary for the Princeton-Mercer County YMCA. He became general secretary or executive director in 1943 and he held that post for 33 years. A consummate fundraiser, he was a leader in creating the present YMWCA facility, working to achieve racial integration of all YMCA programs in the community, organizing the planning and fund raising for the new facility and raising $5 million of the necessary funds himself.

Mr. Clark "retired" from the YMCA in 1977 to work part-time in the development office of the Presbyterian Homes of New Jersey, an organization that has built and operates several retirement homes. He raised $8 million for the Presbyterian Homes before stepping down in 1989.

Over the years he has also raised scholarship money to enable some 50 young men and women to attend college. His other activities on behalf of youth include the Youth Speaks Up radio program that has aired continuously every week since he began it in 1963, and the annual two-week Minorities Journalism Workshop held at Rider College that he founded in 1979. He continues as chairman of the Youth Communications, Inc., a nonprofit organization that oversees and helps fund these two activities.

Mr. Clark, who is 83, was hospitalized in January with a severe case of neuropathy that left him completely paralyzed. With characteristic determination, optimism and faith he has regained mobility and much of his strength.

Several years ago, the YMCA instituted the annual Francis G. Clark Award for service to the YMCA to be given annually at a fund-raising dinner. According to Mr. Riggs, this year it seemed particularly appropriate to honor Mr. Clark himself rather than seek out another recipient.

Grew Up In Pennsylvania

Mr. Clark's interest in the YMCA and young people began as he was growing up in Scranton, Pa., in what he describes as "a wonderful, loving family with deep roots in religion and in the history of early America." His great-great-grandfather fought in the American Revolution and after the war walked across Pennsylvania from Connecticut to farm in what is now Clarks Summit and Clarks Green, Pa. This ancestor was also part of the underground railroad along which blacks travelled escaping slavery in the south.

His father, Scranton's first florist and a landscaper, was a graduate of Wyoming Seminary and taught Sunday School in the Methodist Church. His mother, who had a business school degree, was very active in the Women's Missionary Society.

Thailand. He has many interesting experiences to relate about being in Europe just as World War II broke out.

Returning to the U.S. to finish his master's degree, Mr. Clark was due to leave San Francisco aboard a ship bound for Thailand when the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor. Needing a job so that he could marry a young woman he had met in Wilmington, he went to a YMCA recruiting conference in New York City. The person he was supposed to meet there failed to show up, but he met instead O.H. "Larry" Emmons, executive director of the Princeton-Mercer YMCA whose candidate for a job here also didn't show up.

Needing a candidate to pres-basketball game against the black YMCA team.

"They said they would come, but they wouldn't use the showers. They dressed after the game and left," he recalls. But it was a beginning. One time he invited three white youths and two black ones to pick the members of a team. "Kids care about playing to win and want the best team possible," he observed.

Another tactic was to start a joint High-Y Club in which high school students went on trips and undertook social service projects. Mr. Clark says, "If you send a variety of kids to a conference, they have to room together and they get talking together. If you can change the children you can change the parents."

One year a 10-week series of swimming lessons was planned at private pools that were far enough out of town that mothers would have to drive the children to the lessons. "We

"You test and pull back and test again. You talk about what you will do, because you've got to move, you've got to act. You ask people what they will accept then you work on that."

Having suffered pleurisy and pneumonia as a child, as well as the re-sectioning of two ribs, Mr. Clark was restricted in his activities and somewhat frail. His father took him to the Scranton YMCA at age 10 to build up his strength. As a teenager he was a leader in High-Y clubs and a church youth organization that included Catholics and Jews as well as Protestants and was organized to include meetings and discussions as well as sports and other outdoor activities. Mr. Clark continued that pattern of organizing church youth groups during his career.

"Church, youth, YMCA — they're a natural progression," Mr. Clark remarks. He spent two years managing the school football team and working at a health club to earn money for Springfield College, a training college for YMCA secretaries. During his junior year he won a fellowship to study at the World Alliance of YMCAs in Geneva, Switzerland, where he also studied at the University of Geneva.

Graduating from Springfield in 1935, he began work on a master's degree in international relations at Clark University before taking his first Y job at the Wilmington, Del. YMCA in 1936. In 1938, he was persuaded to return to the World Alliance for training preparatory for a world service career, starting in Bangkok, ent to the personnel committee the following evening, Mr. Emmons invited him to Princeton. Two years later, when Mr. Emmons left to go to New England, Mr. Clark took over as general secretary.

A Segregated Community

At the time the black YMCA was held in what is now the Arts Council building. The white YMCA operated out of the second floor of Dorothea House, and Princeton schools, churches and the movie house were segregated. The idea of a community swimming pool, while supported by a few, was unthinkable to most Princetonians, Mr. Clark recalls.

He set about integrating the activities of the white and black YMCAs, a process that took several years. He began holding joint meetings between the two boards. Then he invited the white Jugtown Club for a set up card tables, and had coffee and cookies, and the mothers would stay during the lessons and talk to each other." When RCA donated one of the first television sets for community use to the YMCA, Mr. Clark set it up in the black YMCA and enjoyed seeing black kids and white kids watching the World Series together. A pool table in Dorothea House served as a similar enticement for blacks to socialize in the white YMCA.

Frank Clark

"Test and Pull Back"

Summarizing these endeavors, he says, "You test and pull back and test again. You talk about what you will do, because you've got to move, you've got to act. You ask people what they would accept, and then you work on that."

Mr. Clark believes in "giving things a chance" and says, "They will usually work out, if you are willing to work at it hard enough." He also believes that "nothing is so successful as success." He was determined that when a new YM-YWCA facility was built it would be integrated. The YW was ahead of the YM in this regard, he says, "but we waited, and finally the men came through."

For many in the community Mr. Clark is identified with bread baking, a skill that he parlayed into a fund-raising technique — "dough for dough," as he puts it — and a means of cultivating people. His mother taught him to bake bread when he was ill and unable to participate in the activities of other children. In addition to being "an act of love," as he describes it, baking bread helped him believe he could do things despite his illness and gave him self confidence.

At college he worked as a short order cook, and later, attending conferences, he would get up at 4 a.m. and watch the baker bake at whatever hotel he was staying in to learn their secret recipes. Someday he intends to put together a cookbook of his recipes — he has about 18 different ones for bread alone — and he also bakes scones, rolls and cakes.

It was three loaves of Mr. Clark's homemade bread left at the home of the late Dean Mathey while Mrs. Mathey was out of town that yielded the first major capital gift for the YM-YWCA building campaign. "He wrote me a note saying he felt so lonely and my bread made him feel so good he thought he ought to do something for me. Inside was a check for $25,000. He said it was the most expensive bread he had ever eaten."

Mr. Clark heard that Einstein liked egg bread, and after experimenting made a bread that the mathematician enjoyed. On a day that happened to be Einstein's 76th birthday, he made his way past a crowd of reporters outside Einstein's house hoping for a glimpse of or word from the great man, rang the door bell and delivered his bread. When the reporters asked him who he was to have gained access, Mr. Clark replied, "I'm his personal baker" — or at least that's the way the story ran in the New York Times, which reported only two people saw Einstein that day, the Western Union telegram delivery boy and his "personal baker."

Apart from bread, Mr. Clark made a point of using human interest stories to persuade wealthy Princetonians to donate to his good causes. As YMCA general secretary, he became very involved in the personal lives of many of its members and had many uplifting stories to tell.

He regrets that he has kept in touch with only 20 of the 50 men and women he helped through college.

Help for Young Black Men

James Granberry, who believes he was the second college student Mr. Clark helped, wrote in 1985 to support the nomination of his mentor for an award from Springfield College that without Mr. Clark's help his options as a young black man in Princeton were few. He could work as a waiter in one of the Princeton University eating clubs, as an orderly at Princeton Hospital, a delivery boy for the grocery store or pinsetter at the bowling alley, or he could "stand on the corner, hoot at the girls and drink beer. This is where many of the young black men ended up," Mr. Granberry added.

The young people whom he has helped, either through scholarship assistance, or Youth Speaks Up and the Minorities Journalism Workshop program, have been family for Mr. Clark and his wife Jane. Mrs. Clark, who shares her husband's interests and faith, founded a horseback riding program at the YMCA in the 1940s and worked on the YMCA annual Antiques Show, among other things.

Mr. Clark was named Man of the Year by the Chamber of Commerce in 1976 and received the Lambert Award from the United Fund in 1979. He also received an award from the New Jersey Broadcasters Association for Youth Speaks Up, the only program on commercial radio presented and managed by teenagers, for teenagers.

Most of all, as he himself declares, he has been enriched by a half century of living in Princeton and his many associations throughout a career of helping others. "Everything I've learned, I've learned from others," Mr. Clark says.

SAFETY AND HEALTH TIPS

HOW TO HANDLE HYDROPLANING

Hydroplaning occurs when your car's tires lose contact with the road and your car rides upon a wedge of water. To avoid hydroplaning, the National Safety Council suggests that you slow down whenever the roads are wet, since even a small amount of water can cause hydroplaning.

Stay away from puddles, especially on curves, and drive smoothly, avoiding sudden movements. Try to drive in the tire tracks left by the cars ahead of you. If you do hydroplane, ease up on the gas and be ready to correct for skids that may occur. Don't brake suddenly.

SAFE BOATING

Operating a boat is a serious responsibility, says the New Jersey State Safety Council. Here are some tips for preventing injuries and deaths:

- Know your boat. Become thoroughly familiar with its operating parts and learn how to inspect it for wear and damage and replace defective parts. Overhaul it at the start of each season.
- Before you cast off, file a float plan with your marina or family and friends. The plan should include a description of your craft, a passenger list, and your intended course and schedule. Should anything happen to you, the plan will aid rescuers in their search.
- Wear your life jacket, and be sure passengers wear theirs. Ninety percent of boating deaths are drownings, and three out of four of these fatalities are the result of victims not wearing their life jackets.
- Children under four are at especially high risk of drowning. It takes only an inch of water and a few moments for a child to drown. Supervise your children in and near water.
- Check the weather forecast before you leave shore and every half hour on the water. If bad weather seems imminent, head for shore at once.
- Don't drink when boating. More than half of all boating fatalities are alcohol related. Alcohol affects judgment, vision and coordination, and results in collisions, capsizings, falls overboard, and drownings.

USE YOUR HEAD

More than 1,000 Americans are killed in bike accidents each year, according to the National Safety Council. As many as 75 percent of all bicycle-related deaths could be prevented if all cyclists would wear helmets.

When buying a helmet, look for one that has been approved by the Snell Memorial Foundation or the American National Standards Institute.

The helmet should have a stiff and smooth outer shell; a thick, impact-absorbing inner shell; and an adjustable chin strap. It should be comfortable to wear.

The kids may not think they're cool; you may think they're too expensive. But helmets save lives.

PUT A LID ON IT

Cooking is the most common cause of apartment fires. Grease fires are especially scary. The National Safety Council reminds all cooks to pay attention while preparing food. Do not leave pots and pans unattended to talk on the phone or watch TV.

Do not hang spice racks, pot holders or towels over the stove where they can easily catch fire. Keep the broiler, oven, ventilation ducts and hood grease-free.

If a grease fire should start, the key to gaining control of the blaze quickly is to deprive it of air. In the case of a broiler or oven, turn the heat off and close the oven door. If the fire starts in a pan, turn the heat off and put a lid over the blaze.

Clubs and Organizations

Le Cercle Francais de Princeton will present a concert of Baroque chamber music on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the McAlpin Room, Woolworth Center, Princeton University campus.

The Stony Brook Players, an ensemble devoted to performing music from the Baroque on period instruments, will feature pieces by Bernier, Campra, Francois Couperin, Pepusch, and Purcell. This program will be a preview of the concert the ensemble will give during the Boston Early Music Festival in early June.

Tom Moore, flute, holds an M.A. and a D.M.A. in the performance of early music from Stanford University. Michele Eaton, soprano, holds bachelor's and master's degrees in music from the University of Massachusetts. Anne Lazarides, viola da gamba, is a doctoral candidate in chemistry at Princeton; and Priscilla McKenna, harpsichord, holds a B.A. in music from Pomona College.

The concert is free and the public is invited.

On Friday, May 24, the Music Department of Princeton Day School will entertain the Princeton Senior Citizens Club. Violin students from grades one through four, under the direction of Louise McClure, will present a musical program beginning at 1 p.m.

The regular business meeting will follow the completion of the program.

The Princeton Junior School Parents Association will present "A Day on the Farm" on Sunday from noon to 5. A preview party for patrons

Wild Bird Rescue

Washington Crossing Audubon Society invites the public to attend "Caring for Wild Birds," a slide program to be presented by Patricia Robertson of Tri-State Bird Rescue and Research in Newark, Del. The program will begin at 8 p.m. on Monday in Stainton Hall at the Pennington School, Delaware Avenue. The program is free of charge and refreshments will be served beginning at 7:30.

Ms. Robertson will outline the history and describe the rescue and research activities of this organization. Tri-State has recovered birds in New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Long Island Sound, and Prince William Sound in Alaska. She will also talk about the negotiations currently under way between Tri-State and Near Eastern authorities to assist in addressing the environmental damage in the Persian Gulf. Ms. Robertson will also show a live hawk or owl as part of the program.

"Caring for Wild Birds" is Audubon's last indoor program until September. Field trips and a series of Audubon-sponsored programs at Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association will be held during the summer months.

Mercer Alliance for the Mentally Ill will present Alan Gellert as its featured speaker at 7:30 on Monday at the Mercer County Library, Rt. 1 and Darrah Lane. His talk, "The Mentally Ill and the Legal System," will be followed by a question and answer period.

Mercer AMI is a support/advocacy organization composed of families and friends of individuals with a mental illness.

Self Help for Hard of Hearing will meet at the Lambert House of the Princeton Medical Center on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Jan Niedermaier, of the Katzenbach School for the Deaf, will be the featured speaker.

The Women's College Club of Princeton will hold its spring luncheon and fashion show at Scanticon at 11 a.m. on Monday.

Reservations may be made through Betty Abbatiello, 65 Sayre Drive. Cost is $20.

The Woman's Club of Princeton will hold its annual spring luncheon at the Bedens Brook Country Club on Thursday. There will be cocktails at 11:30 and a buffet at 12:30. Cost is $18 per person. Guests are welcome.

For more information, call 924-4550.

On Tuesday at 7, Association for Advancement of Mental Health Executive Director Richard McDonnell and Maureen McDonnell will lead a workshop on wellness in the third-floor community room at Stark & Stark, 993 Lenox Drive, Building 2, Lawrenceville.

The workshop will focus on the importance of nutrition, exercise, and stress reduction in maintaining proper physical and mental health.

Admission is $15. For reservations, call AAMH at 924-7174.

The Princeton Singles will sponsor a dance on Saturday, May 25, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Hopewell American Legion, Van Dyke Road.

For more information, call 737-2705.

The group will also sponsor a nature hike on Sunday, May 26, at 1 p.m. at Mountain Lakes. Persons should meet at the beginning of the road to Mountain Lakes.

Call 883-1214 for more information.

The Music Club of Princeton has presented its annual $500 prize to the area high school performer judged best in a juried competition to Amanda Clarfield, Sayre Drive.

A junior at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, she is a student of Phyllis Lehrer and Ingrid Clarfield, both on the faculty at Westminster Choir College.

Do-It-Yourself Framing At Frames & Framers

The choice is yours at Frames & Framers in the Mercer Mall at Route 1 in Lawrenceville. The shop offers do-it-yourself framing, custom framing by the staff or a combination of the two.

"We offer three options," explains owner Judy Grow. "With custom framing, we do it all. Do-it-yourself framing enables the customer to do everything except the cutting and measuring, and with the in-between choice, we cut the glass and mats, build the frame, and the customer fits it and closes it up. The majority of our business is do-it-yourself."

Mrs. Grow, who has owned Frames & Framers for 14 years, says people enjoy the challenge of framing an item themselves, and they usually have no trouble. "Even if someone has never done framing before, they can do it. Women who have never picked up a hammer or a screw driver can do a great job and have something they can be proud of."

"Our staff, many of whom are from art school, guide the customers in selection and price," continues Mrs. Grow. "We help them in the choice of the frame, both from an aesthetic and physical standpoint; that is, will the frame hold the weight of the item, etc. We show customers step-by-step

HOW TO & HANDS ON: "The do-it-yourself aspect of our business is unique, and we also stock virtually everything we sell. We carry more than 20,000 feet of molding in wood and metal and in a wide range of colors and styles. We have a large staff to help customers, a spacious work area and an informal, comfortable atmosphere." Judy Grow, owner of Frames & Framers in the Mercer Mall, has helped many customers to "do-it-yourself."

what happens, and also, the person who waits on you will see the project through. That person will be the one who cuts and measures, and will be the one to talk to while you're working.

"We are always available for people to call upon us," she adds. "We are usually working right at the next table. Our employees know the names of the people they work with, and they are interested in your work. They are accountable and responsible."

A full range of wood and metal frames is available. Natural wood, silver and gold leaf and lacquer finishes are in stock, as are special order frames, such as marbleized and rounded corners.

Acid Free Mats

Mats from such companies as Crescent, Bainbridge, Cardcraft, and Miller include regular and acid free. The latter is important for conservation and is museum quality.

Customers arrive with a variety of items for framing, reports Mrs. Grow. Everything from children's fingerpaintings and hand prints to needlework, diplomas and wedding invitations to old and precious lithographs, has been framed.

"People bring in things that are very special to them," she notes. "In fact, the first thing I framed in the store was a letter from my father he wrote me when I was four. Recently, someone brought in a piece of the Berlin Wall with barbed wire attached. We framed it in a shadow box with a map of Germany behind it, and it was very effective. Someone else just framed the New York City IRT subway map.

"Posters are probably one of the biggest parts of our business," she adds, "and also, we have been doing the framing for the gift shop of the Metropolitan Opera for more than a year."

The mother of two, Mrs. Grow, whose background also includes authorship of two books on needlework and several years as a music teacher, says she has always liked the idea of having her own business, especially this business.

"My husband is an artist, so I decided I would get into a business and let him paint. I had a background in art, and I really took to the framing. There is nothing boring about this work. There is something different all the time. The exciting thing is that a customer walks in, and then within an hour or two hours tops, you have finished the project, and created something with them.

Seeing Ideas Work

"I especially enjoy developing something at the front work table and later seeing it done and knowing that what I thought would work did work."

The business continues to grow, she adds. "The good thing about this regional shopping center is the convenient location. We get people from all over Pennsylvania, New York, and even when people move away, they often come back. We've had them from Massachusetts.

"Also," she continues, "most home improvement businesses do well in a down-turn economy, and this is a very inexpensive way to change your decor. Customers can save money by doing the work themselves. They save the labor costs."

Prices range from $2.50 to $75 per foot for wood frames, and metal frames start at $4. A do-it-yourself version of a 24-inch by 36-inch poster in a simple metal frame, including glass and dry mounting, is $68.65. ($84.15 custom). An 8-inch by 10-inch piece could be $30 or less depending on the frame chosen.

Ready-made frames are available at a discount, and posters and artwork are also offered for sale.

Appointments are not necessary, and generally people are advised to plan on one hour per picture.

The comfortable setting of work tables, artwork, frames and cheerful activity is appealing. "We have many repeat customers," says Mrs. Grow. "Some we have had since we opened the doors. It's a great atmosphere. Everyone helps everyone out."

"We've even had a marriage," she adds with a smile. "Two do-it-yourself customers met here and got married. You can't beat that!"

Frames & Framers is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday until 8 and Sunday 12 to 4. It is closed on Sunday June, July, August and September.

New Nassau Street Shop Offers "Perfect Gifts"

"This shop has a special origin," explains Marjorie Blaxill, vice president and advertising director of The Perfect Gift, the new shop which opened April 29 at 246 Nassau Street.

"A group of long-time Princeton citizens got together with a good idea. We saw a need for this type of store. The Cummins Shop had gone out of business, the Town Shop was lingering but uncertain (it has since closed), and everyone said there was no place to go for that special gift. We all decided to invest in the shop, and we are thrilled with the reaction of customers. They have been so enthusiastic.

"Also," continues Mrs. Blaxill, "we were fortunate to get a very fine manager, Minnie Kohli, who is also the buyer, along with Mona Fisher. We are incorporated now, and the officers are president, Burr Fisher; treasurer, Harold Erdman and assistant treasurer, Eleanor Kuser."

"We looked long and hard for a location," adds Mrs. Fisher, "and when we found this, it seemed to be part of an emerging new neighborhood. We are just two doors from a florist, a bike shop across the street, and down the block from the seafood store. We redesigned the whole interior, and some parts of the building date from the early 1800s. Our designer Katy Moffitt and contractor Dan Getman did a great job."

Taste and charm are the hallmarks of the inviting shop, which is filled with a variety of gifts attractively displayed. Crystal, china, silver, pottery, mirrors, prints and lamps are among the categories of items, and there are many which would be very appropriate wedding gifts. "We have established a Bridal Registry, and we welcome brides-to-be to come and see what we have," notes manager Minnie Kohli. "We offer all the help they need or want in a very comfortable, warm atmosphere. We want to help make this be as special a time for them as we can."

Adds Mrs. Blaxill: "Service is important here. We want to do all we can for customers, but we are never intrusive. We're here if you need us."

Wonderful Choices

Many wonderful choices are abundant at The Perfect Gift. Limoges china, including Haviland, Bernadaud and PURE PERFECTION: "We are a special addition to the shopping scene. The theme of the store is that we offer tasteful and unique gifts for many occasions. You can walk in here and find an appropriate gift for a bride, a baby or a best friend." Mona Fisher, Minnie Kohli and Marjorie Blaxill of The Perfect Gift are delighted with the new shop, located at 246 Nassau Street.

Ceralene, is available, as is Ginori china from Italy, and a selection of the special Mottahedeh line.

"All of these are very appropriate bridal china or for any occasion," says Ms. Kohli. "In addition, we are delighted to offer Miller Rogaska crystal from Yugoslavia. This is a wonderful find, and very affordable at $25 to $35 a stem."

Other crystal is also available. A set of four wine glasses is a noteworthy selection at $24.

Silver accessories include trays, candlesticks, picture frames and salt and pepper shakers, and there is also an assortment of polished pewter. A number of baby items are available in silver and pewter. Brush and comb sets, cup, porringer, spoon and fork, etc., are among them.

Pottery in many colorful designs is on display, and Ms. Kohli notes, "We have pottery from Italy, Hungary and Portugal, including handpainted Mesa pottery from Italy, available in sets or miscellaneous pieces. Platters, covered casseroles, baking dishes are all here, and they make wonderful wedding gifts."

The shop also carries a selection of the attractive Wilton Armatale trays and serving dishes, which are made of a special blend of metals, guaranteed to be oven and burner-safe and nontoxic.

Also available are the handsome Jean Couzon stainless steel trays and serving dishes from France. These are oven-proof and dish-washer safe and make pleasing additions to the dining room and kitchen.

Exclusive Mirror Line

The Perfect Gift has an especially appealing selection of mirrors. They are exclusive to the store, and as Mrs. Fisher remarks, "They are beautifully framed and matted with prints of birds and flowers and start at $105."

Also exclusive to the shop are the highly regarded George Wells hand-hooked wool rugs.

Botanical prints are available, as is a variety of floral lamps in different sizes and shapes, beginning at $72. An assortment of hurricane lamps in delicate and graceful designs, is also on display, in sets of three or separately, starting at $15.

Linens from around the world, including China, are offered at varying prices, and there is a selection of luggage racks, tray tables, and little tray tables with tile tops, which can also serve as attractive plant stands.

Picnic baskets have become popular wedding gifts, and two sizes are available, both fitted with assorted appointments, including the special addition of a blanket.

Trays and wastebaskets, in a range of patterns and designs, clocks, needlepoint pillows, coasters, placemats, invitations and notecards, photo albums and very attractive playing cards and bridge sets are also in stock.

Unique Objects

"We offer gifts that are unique," says Mrs. Fisher. "You will not find our things everywhere else. We have tried to put objects in our window that are not seen elsewhere in Princeton."

Among the unusual items at the shop are special eucalyptus birds and animals in assorted colors, and which emit a pleasant fragrance.

There is also a hand-carved, hand-painted wooden frog from Indonesia, complete with parasol and whimsical attitude, which will make a diverting addition to the sun room. Hand-done pelicans and fish in a similar style are also available.

In addition, The Perfect Gift carries the colorful Santa Fe hospital fete aprons for $10, with all proceeds going to the hospital fete.

"Keep in mind that our merchandise will be constantly changing," notes Mrs. Blaxill. "There will be new purchases and new ideas all the time. It won't remain static, and there is always a wide price range, with items $5 and up."

Indeed, there is something to please many tastes and pocketbooks at the shop, a tribute to the buying skills of Ms. Kohli and Mrs. Fisher. "I truly love the shopping, finding all these lovely things," says Ms. Kohli. "And then what a pleasure it is to see them purchased, to see someone respond to what I have chosen."

The Perfect Gift is already noted for the exceptional quality of its gift-wrapped packages, and it also delivers in Princeton and ships worldwide.

"We hope to give the community something it doesn't have now," explains Mrs. Blaxill. "We believe we are filling a gap in the community."

"And we are having fun doing it!" adds Ms. Kohli. The Perfect gift is open Monday through Saturday 9:30 to 5:30.

Shakespeare Summer

Teenagers age 14 to 18 are invited to audition for McCarter Theatre's 10th annual Shakespeare Summer production, The Taming of the Shrew, on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 14 and 15.

Shakespeare Summer is a four-week program for teenagers which features classes in acting, voice, movement, combat, make-up and speech, and culminates with a full Shakespearean production on the McCarter stage on July 27 and 28. This year's production will be directed by Laurie Huntsman.

Rehearsals begin on June 28 and will be held Monday through Friday, from 9 to 2:30. The cost is $300, with some scholarships available. To set up an interview/audition or for further information, call Sandy Moskovitz at 683-9100, Monday through Friday, 10 to 5.

How He Lied to Her Husband, by George Bernard Shaw. Cheryl Doyle will play the wife, Ken Paris her young lover and Doug Kline the wronged husband. Inspector Hound is being directed by Dale Simon, and How He Lied by Ted Hoagland. The shows are produced and designed by Gerald E. Guarnieri, executive director of Shakespeare '70.

Performances are Friday and Saturday nights at 8 through June 1. Artists Showcase Theatre is at 1150 Indiana Avenue, off the Route 1 circle in West Trenton. All tickets are $9.50 and reservations may be made by calling 695-1955.

Joffrey Work Scheduled By Princeton Ballet Co.

Princeton Ballet Company will return to McCarter Theatre for its spring engagement as dance company in residence on Wednesday, May 22, at 8 p.m.

The performance follows the company's highly successful March and April tour of North Carolina and California and its April premiere of the Robert Joffrey masterpiece, Pas de Deuxes. The Joffrey work, the latest addition to the company's repertory, was first performed by the Robert Joffrey Theatre Ballet in New York City in 1954.

The ballet, Mr. Joffrey's attempt to capture the spirit of a Chalon lithograph of the 1846 version of the ballet, portrays three pretty goddesses — Juno, Minerva and Venus — vying at the same time for the attention of their mutual partner, Paris, and for the limelight. The acquisition of the Joffrey work was made possible in part by a donation from the AT&T Foundation.

The performance at McCarter will also feature Dermot

Burke's Still Lives and the world premiere of his newest ballet. The yet-untitled ballet will be danced to the music of Phoebe Snow. The world premiere of a ballet by company member Septime Webre is also planned.

Tickets are priced from $14 to $22 and can be obtained at the McCarter box office, 683-8000. For group sales call Scheryl LoMonico at (908) 249-1254.

Screen Star Featured At Playhouse Benefit

Debbie Reynolds, star of stage, screen and TV, will perform Saturday, June 1, at George Street Playhouse's third annual gala benefit.

This year's theme "Singin' in the Rain," pays homage to Ms. Reynolds' film career which also includes such films as The Unsinkable Molly Brown, How the West Was Won,

Acting Classes for Youth Planned by McCarter

McCarter Theatre will offer acting classes this summer for children ages 5 to 13.

These classes, taught by professional instructors from McCarter's Outreach Department, are limited to 12 students per session. Classes meet July 9 through July 31 (Tuesday through Thursday) at the Broadmead Theatre, 171 Broadmead.

In Beginners I, for grades K/1, ages 5 to 6, children will be guided through a variety of creative drama experiences which explore different themes each week. They will experience art, movement and music as it relates to the dramatic art form. This class places emphasis on the development of creative expression. Tuition is $100.

Beginners II, grades 2/3, ages 7 to 8, is an introduction to acting, play development, and other theatrical elements through creative drama and theater games. Tuition is $110.

In Intermediates, grades 4 through 6, ages 9 to 11, working as an ensemble, students will concentrate on the dramatization of their own ideas as well as scripted works. Through theater games and improvisation, students will explore their own physical and verbal communication skills. Tuition is $120.

In Pre-Shakespeares, grades 7/8, ages 12 to 13, acting technique is developed through improvisation, theater games, and script work. Students are introduced to character and script analysis, character objectives as well as physical, verbal and non-verbal communication. Tuition is $120.

To register or for more information call Sandy Moskovitz at 683-9100, Monday through Friday, 10 to 5.

Stoppard Comedy Staged By Shakespeare '70 Co.

Tom Stoppard's The Real Inspector Hound, a comedy of murder and romance, will be presented by Shakespeare '70 Inc. Saturday at 8 at Showcase Theatre in Trenton.

The production features Tom Orr and Joe Doyle as the two drama critics. The actors in the play-within-the play are Gretchen Felix, Suzanne and Bill O'Neill, Jan Applebaum, Stacie Dickscheid and Patrick Andrae.

The evening will also feature a short comedy curtain-raiser,

Tommy and the Bachelor, and The Tender Trop.

Ms. Reynolds has also appeared on stage in the Broadway revivals of Irene and Annie Get Your Gun. This fall, she takes on a new medium with her own television series, Esme's Little Nop.

Ms. Reynolds will bring with her a Las Vegas-style cabaret, including four dancers and a 12-piece orchestra to the benefit, during which GSP will present the annual Thomas H. Kean Arts Advocacy Award for outstanding contribution to the arts. The Hon. Thomas H. Kean, President of Drew University, will present this year's award to the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of America. Accepting on behalf of Prudential will be Senior Vice President William H. Tremayne.

Dinner and dancing at New Brunswick's Hyatt Regency will follow the award ceremony.

Tickets range from $25 to $250 (includes the Hyatt dinner). For further information, or to arrange for a corporate table, call GSP's Development Department at (908) 846-2895.

Tickets for the performance only are available for $50, $40, $35 and $25 and may be ordered by calling Ticket Central at (908) 246-7469. All proceeds from this benefit go to the George Street Playhouse.

Opening Is This Friday For New McCarter Play

The Film Society, a new play by Jon Robin Baitz, will open on Friday at McCarter Theatre.

Directed by Douglas Hughes, associate artistic director of Seattle Repertory Theatre, the production will run from May 17 through June 2, with previews this Wednesday and Thursday. The Film Society is set in Blenheim, a run-down boys school in Durban, South Africa. The play shows how institutions like Blenheim and its teachers perpetuate a decaying society.

The cast includes Randy Danson, William Duff-Griffin, Bill Moor, Mark Nelson, John Slattery and Angela Thornton. All have lengthy theater, film and television credits.

McCarter will present four special events in conjunction with The Film Society. The next McCarter Encore! event will be held on opening night. For more information call Sarabeth Ream in the Associates office at 683-9100.

Audio description for visually impaired patrons is available for the performances on Friday, May 31 at 8, and Sunday, June 2 at 2. Using a small transistor, visually impaired patrons can hear a description of the action on stage. Before each of these performances, there will be a "sensory seminar" at which patrons may touch props, costumes and set pieces. For more information call 683-8000.

OPENING AT McCARTER: John Slattery, Randy Danson and Mark Nelson appear in McCarter Theatre's production of "The Film Society" by Jon Robin Baitz. Opening night is Friday, and the production runs through June 2.

On Friday, May 31, at 8, McCarter will hold its final Singles Theater Party of the 1990-91 season. Singles from all over Central New Jersey are invited to see a performance of The Film Society and meet new people at a reception in the lobby following the performance.

Seating is limited to 250 people. Tickets are $30 and are available by calling Alice Miller at 683-9100.

Musical 'Nunsense' Next At Bucks Co. Playhouse

Georgia Engel of The Mory Tyler Moore Show will star in the musical Nunsense by Dan Goggins at the Bucks County Playhouse May 21 to June 9.

The plot concerns the Little Sisters of Hoboken who are in a dilemma, what with four dead nuns in the walk-in freezer left to bury. Not knowing what else to do under the circumstances, they put on a show. Ms. Engel plays Sister Mary Amnesia, the sister who was conked on the head by a falling crucifix and now can't remember who she is or anything else.

Ms. Engel previously appeared as Sr. Mary Amnesia at the Wellington Theatre in Chicago. She originated the roles of Mickey in My One and Only and Minnie Faye in Hello

Dolly! with Ethel Merman. Performances of Nunsense are Tuesday through Friday at 8:30; Wednesday mornings at 10; Saturdays at 5 and 9, and Sundays at 7. Tickets range from $15 to $18. Tickets are available by calling the Bucks County Playhouse box office at (215) 862-2041.

There are group rates for seniors and children.

Franklin Villagers Stage Huckleberry Finn Musical

Big River, the musical adventures of Huckleberry Finn, will open at the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre on Friday, May 24 and will continue weekends through June 30.

Mark Twain's famous story has been adapted by William Hauptman with music and lyrics by Roger Miller. Big River won seven Tony Awards in 1985, including Best Musical.

Huck is played by Scott Kinzel and the Widow Douglas by Sally Weller. Miss Watson is played by Pat Powers and Tom Sawyer by Michael Pater-noster. Pap is Walter Hughes and Jim is played by David Perry.

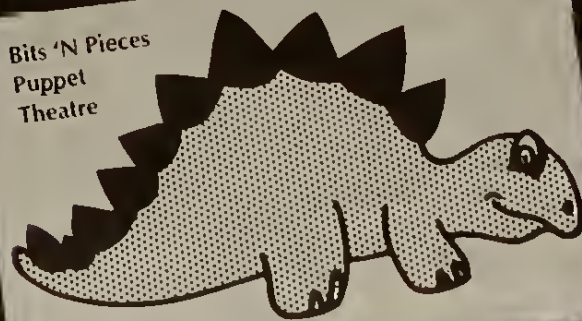

The production is directed by Tom Eldridge with musical direction by Vincent P. Zito.

Performances will be on Fridays and Saturdays at 8:30; Sundays, May 26, June 9 and June 23 at 7:30; Sundays, June 2 and 16 at 2:30 and Sunday, June 30 at 1. Tickets are $15 on Fridays and Saturdays and $14

Registration Under Way For C.T. Acting Camps

Creative Theatre is holding summer camp registration for children 4 to 15 years of age.

Classes in creative drama for 4- to 6-year-olds combine visual arts, music, movement, and drama. Themes such as the zoo, royalty, bubbles and balloons, and under water are explored through this multimedia approach to drama. For 7- to 11-year-olds, a story is used as a springboard for the students' own ideas. Simple props and costumes are designed and built by the children and incorporated into their final presentation.

Twelve-to 15-year-olds create, ing and improvisation, scenes are strung together to create their own play. Various themes, such as "the mall" or "a whodunnit", have been developed into original theater pieces by past classes. Prop and scene construction complete will follow in which the audience will be encouraged to participate.

Creative Theatre will offer a scheduled for presentation one-week program, June 24 to on Tuesday, May 28, will be 28. Classes meet two hours a day and are divided into three age groups, 4 to 6, 7 to 11, and 12 to 15 years.

CABARET CLOWNS: Liz Fillo and Dan Berkowitz show off their prowess in facial expressionism while Roo Brown feigns astonishment.

MUSIC

Inn Cabaret Returns To Benefit Symphony

The Chamber Symphony will present the "Last of the Best of the Inn Cabaret" on Saturday when many of the original members of the Inn Cabaret will reunite for two shows at 8 and 10 p.m. at Seanticon Conference Center.

Under the direction of Dan Berkowitz, veteran cast members Suzie Bertin, Roo Brown, Harry Clark, Julie Denny Clark, Diana Crane, Liz Fillo and Reid White will perform, accompanied by Peter Wright on the piano and Steve Fillo on the bass. Costumes are by Marie Miller and Richard Backes, assisted by wife Pam, will do the lights.

The Inn Cabaret made its debut on Friday, June 20, 1975, in a small room at the Nassau Inn. By the final Cabaret that first season, the show had moved to the main ballroom, a certifiable hit — and a Princeton tradition was born.

Touted as "The Last of the Best" this year, this cabaret is by no means really the last, but it is always the best, say the producers.

Outdoor Concert Series At the Shopping Center

The Princeton Shopping Center will hold a series of free outdoor concerts on Thursday evenings from May 23 through June 27 from 6 to 8.

The public is invited to bring lawn chairs and blankets to sit on and to enjoy the sounds of big band, dixieland jazz and brass quintet. Outdoor dining is available at Great Tastes and Clancy's Place, and reservations are suggested.

The series begins May 23 with The Moonlighters presenting the big band sounds of the 1930s to the present. On May 30, the Princeton String Quartet will perform. The Rick Fiori Swing Jazz Quintet is scheduled for June 6.

The Rhythm Kings will play dixieland jazz on June 13. The Trenton Brass Quintet Plus One is scheduled for June 20, and the series will conclude June 27 with contemporary pop songs by the Alan Paller Quartet, featuring vocals, acoustic and bass guitar, electric piano and drums.

For more information call 921-6234.

Sunday Concert Is Set By Chamber Ensemble

The Collegium Musicum of Princeton will present a concert on Sunday at 8 in All Saints' Church.

The program will include Trio Sonata in C Minor by J.B. Loeilet, Liren Konzert No. 5 by Haydn, Syrinx by Debussy, Concert No. 3 for Horn by Mozart, and Serenade No. 2 by R. Volkmann. The soloists will be Katherine McClure and Dorothy Kovacs, flute, Martha Helms, oboe, Joseph Kovacs, violin, Clarence Chung, harpsichord, and Susan Kynkor, horn.

Rachmaninoff's 'Vespers' Planned by Pro Musica

Princeton Pro Musica will present the Rachmaninoff Vespers in three New Jersey performances. Music Director Frances Slade will conduct the 100-voice chorus in singing the Vespers a cappella in accordance with Russian Orthodox church tradition. Bruce Turner will be the tenor soloist.

The Vespers is known for its lush texture and remarkably large vocal ranges. The voice parts are frequently subdivided, so that the conventional four parts are expanded to as many as 11 parts. The work calls for basses with exceptionally low voices.

In this area a performance will be given Friday, May 31, at 8 at Queenship of Mary Roman Catholic Church at the intersection of Scudders Mill and Dey Roads in Plainsboro. Tickets for this performance will be $15, $10 for students and senior citizens.

Vespers will also be sung Saturday, June 1, at 8 at St. Hedwig's Roman Catholic Church at the corner of Olden and Brunswick Avenues in Trenton. A $10 donation is requested.

For additional information and to order tickets call 683-5122.

Hammer Dulcimer Artist With American Boychoir

The American Boychoir will perform Friday, May 31, in Richardson Auditorium with Malcolm Dalglish, a hammer dulcimer artist, and percussionist Glen Velez of the Paul Winter Consort.

They will present a new work composed by Mr. Dalglish titled Hymnody of Earth, inspired by the writings of Wendell Berry, American poet and environmentalist, and drawing on the traditions of shape-note hymns and Shaker songs. The performance will take place at 8. For ticket information call the American Boychoir School, 924-5858.

Mr. Dalglish was a student at the American Boychoir School in 1962-64, when it was called the Columbus Boychoir. He toured the U.S. and Europe as a soprano and soloist with the choir and performed at Tanglewood and in the world premiere of the Kaddish at Lincoln Center under Leonard Bernstein. He went on to major in theater at Oberlin College and to receive a degree in music education at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Today he is one of the leading exponents of the hammer dulcimer and has been widely acclaimed for his innovative recordings and string-band collaborations.

Tickets are $18, $15 and $10.

IF YOU DON'T READ TOWN TOPICS, how will you keep up with the news?

Folk Music and Blues Concert Friday Evening

Chris Smither will present a concert of folk music and blues Friday at 8:15 at Christ Congregation, 55 Walnut Lane. His performance is the last of this season's series sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society.

Mr. Smither's recorded albums, including It Ain't Easy, have won him acclaim as possibly the finest interpreter of blues-based material on the acoustic folk scene today. He plays electric slide-guitar idiom without benefit of either the electric guitar or the slide. Mr. Smither learned blues singing and guitar in New Orleans, where he grew up, and from recordings of artists like Mississippi John Hurt and Lightning Hopkins.

Mr. Smither is also a songwriter. Many of his songs, including Love Me Like a Man, have been recorded by other performers.

Admission to the concert is $7 with discounts to members of the Princeton Folk Music Society and their guests, and to senior citizens. There are no advance sales.

For further information call 799-0944.

Coloratura Concert Set At Rider College Theatre

The Princeton Opera Association will present an all-coloratura fund-raising concert, "A Night on the High Cs" on Saturday at 8 in the Rider College Fine Arts Theatre.

"We're billing the concert as an evening of 'death defying' arias," comments Princeton Opera president Sue Robbins. "We're offering selections from some of the more familiar repertoire, such as the 'Mad Scene' from Lucia di Lammermoor and The Queen of the Night's arias from The Magic Flute, as well as lesser-known works from operas by Handel and Stravinsky."

Performers include Peggy Brown, Eileen Shelly, Lynn Snyder, Barbara Zsenak and Timothy Carpenter, plus Ms. Robbins, all of whom reside in the Mercer-Somerset-Bucks County area. Stephen Peet will accompany. Selections include arias by Handel, Mozart, Rossini, Bellini, Donizetti, Gounod, Menotti and Stravinsky.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students, and will be sold at the door.

Spring Concert Is Set By A Cappella Ensemble

Mostly a Cappella, a choral ensemble based in Hopewell, will hold its annual spring evening of song, Sunday at 7:30 at the Hopewell Presbyterian Church, Routes 518 and 654, Hopewell. Admission is free and refreshments will be served. The program will include the music of Tallis, Bruckner, Tchaikovsky, Hindemith, and Desenclos.

three-day-a-week program (Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday) or a two-day-a-week program (Monday and Friday). Four-to-6-year-olds meet in the mornings and 7- to 11-year-olds in the afternoons. Sessions are 2½ hours in length.

WHO KNOWS what's going on in Princeton? People who read TOWN TOPICS, of course.

FINAL WEEKEND: Harper Harris plays the title character in William Mastrosimone's "Sunshine," playing through Sunday at the Mill Hill Playhouse. The native Trentonian's new play is about an encounter between a peep-show performer (Sunshine) and a lonely paramedic, played by David DeBeck. For tickets call 392-0766.

Volunteer & Intern Spots Available at Artworks

Artworks, The Visual Arts School of Princeton and Trenton, is looking for people interested in working on a volunteer basis. Volunteering offers an introduction to the varied programs and events sponsored by Artworks and affords an opportunity to meet artists, students, and other community volunteers interested in the arts.

Volunteers will work directly with professional staff to learn about art, art management, and public relations.

Hospitality volunteers work with the staff to host receptions and openings and assist with the daily gallery operations. Installation volunteers work with professional artists and program directors to assist in all areas of hanging an exhibition, and administrative volunteers assist with a variety of public relations, membership, and marketing tasks. Volunteers will be trained for all tasks.

Other volunteer needs include assisting with mailings, computer data entry, answering phones, and a wide variety of jobs suitable for seniors and young adults. Persons may give as little as a lunch hour or an afternoon a week.

Artworks is also accepting a limited number of applications for interns seeking a more intensive program that targets specific areas of interest.

For further information, write Robin Larsen, director of community relations, Artworks, 19 Everett Alley in Trenton and 45 Stockton Street in Princeton. Volunteer positions are available in Trenton and Princeton. Internships are offered in Trenton only. Call 394-9436.

Area Artist Is Featured In S. Brunswick Program

Helen Post will be the third artist-in-residence in the "Art Goes Public" series at the South Brunswick Public Library. She will be in residence on Saturday from 10 to 4 and on Sunday from 1 to 4.

Ms. Post will work in pastels in a mini-studio near the circulation desk. She invites the public to view her at work on one of her latest projects, and will discuss with observers her methods and techniques as well as her concept of the creative process in art.

Ms. Post, a graduate of Pratt Institute, Trenton State College and Rutgers University, has worked as an art therapist and as an instructor of various media in the visual arts. She has conducted workshops in marbled papers and in woodblock printing for the "Revisited Medieval Renaissance Period" program sponsored by Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission.

Exhibits

Stuart Country Day School's annual student art show will be on view at the school through June 5.

The gallery is open weekdays from 8 to 6.

For the 18th consecutive year, The Gallery at Mercer County Community College will hold the juried multi-media Mercer County Artists exhibit. The show will open on Friday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. with an awards ceremony and a free public reception. It will remain on view through Saturday, June 29.

New Jersey artist Adolf Konrad and Bristol Myers-Squibb Gallery Director Pamela V. Sherin served as jurors for this year's exhibit. In addition to selecting 58 works to be included in the exhibit, they chose four juror's merit award winners, and three honorable mention award winners.

Merit award winners include Mary Bundy of Princeton for her oil painting, Yellow Apples; Anthony Colavita of Lawrenceville for his oil painting, Night of the Burial; Marguerite Doernbach of Trenton for her acrylic painting Moon over Heather and Gorse; and Jamie Greenfield Martin of Lawrenceville for her charcoal drawing, Cow Skull.

Honorable mention winners include Connie Bracci-McIndoe for her ceramic piece, Arachnean Pleasure; Robin Middleman of Roosevelt for her acrylic painting, Some Dreamers; and John Nichols of Hopewell for his stone sculpture, Muse.

The Arts Council of Princeton's third annual students' photography contest and show for area high school students will be on display at the WPA Gallery in the Arts Council building, from May 16 to May 29. A reception is planned for May 16, from 6 to 7 p.m.

For further information, call 924-8777.

An exhibit of watercolors, "Garden Portraits," at The Hopewell Frame Shop & Gallery highlights individual flowers painted by J.N. Betz.

Ms. Betz, who has degrees from Marymount Manhattan College and Hunter College Graduate School, has exhibited in the area as well as at the MCC Gallery in New York City.

Ettl Farm Exhibit

The artists of Ettl Farm will exhibit their work in "The First Ever Ettl Farm Artist's Exhibition" at the farm on June 1 and 2 from noon to 4 p.m.

Named for its longtime owner, Alex Ettl, the farm has been home and studio to painters, sculptors, writers, designers and craftspeople for more than 40 years.

Nine of the 15 artists currently living and working on the Ettl Farm will be represented in the exhibit. They are Ali Ahmad, Barbara Campbell, Katherine Ettl, Vallessa Monk, Joseph Petrovics, Andrew Pitynski, Andy Rae, Dana Stewart and Jackie ter Kuile. Each artist will show between two and four works.

Media include both cast and fabricated sculpture, drawings, paintings, carved wood and furniture. Most of these are for sale and most were made on the farm.

Tiger Lacrosse to Begin Quest for First NCAA Championship With Quarterfinal Contest in Palmer Stadium This Sunday

If the Princeton University athletic teams guest-starred on an episode of "Sesame Street" last weekend, no doubt the sponsor would have been the number "3." Tbrees abounded throughout the stats page from last week's Tiger events.

The men's lacrosse team (11-2) headlined the tri-weekend. After knocking off Hofstra, 15-11, in the season finale, the Tigers learned of their seeding in the NCAA Tournament, which begins Wednesday. The committee picked Princeton third — identical to its rating in the latest national poll — which means that the Tigers will earn a first-round bye and host a quarterfinal game this Sunday at Palmer Stadium against either Virginia (No. 6 seed) or Towson State (No. 11).

The baseball team (22-19), which will learn of its placement in the 48-team national tournament next Monday, dropped all three contests at North Carolina last week. The Tigers rebounded, however, to take three of four weekend games at Clarke Field. Princeton swept Lafayette, 5-3 and 11-3, and topped St. Francis, 5-4, in the nightcap Sunday. The visitors had won the opener, 1-0.

The softball team (32-13-1) finished its regular season by beating and tying Adelphi. In the opener of a twinbill last Thursday, freshman Lisa Moore tossed a one-hitter and Princeton strung together four singles in the first extra frame to top the Panthers, 5-0. The second game was called after 10 innings with the score tied at 1-1 on account of darkness. But the most important news of the week came the day before, when the latest regional rankings placed the Tigers — you guessed it — third in the Northeast. With only the top two teams advancing to the NCAA Tournament and Princeton's regular season over, it seems unlikely that Old Nassau will qualify when bids are handed out this weekend.

TRYING TO KEEP TORTOLANI IN CHECK: Hofstra defenders spent most of Saturday afternoon trying to keep Princeton's Justin Tortolani (white jersey) in check, but met with limited success. The junior tri-captain wound up with eight points on five goals and three assists.

The men's crew team placed fourth in the varsity race at the Eastern Sprints in Worcester, Mass., last Sunday. Penn took home the trophy with a Lake Quinsigamond record time of 5 minutes, 36.8 seconds. Northeastern, which led for half the race, finished second in 5:38.6. In all, the Tigers placed three of their five boats in either final or consolation heats, with both the first freshman squad taking third in its division and the second freshman squad finishing third in the consolation heat (ninth overall). The Tigers finished 8.2 seconds behind the first-place Quakers, one spot behind Harvard. Next up for Princeton is the IRA Regatta, which begins May 30 in Syracuse, N.Y.

Lightweights Second
The lightweight crew team finished second in the first varsity race at the lightweight Eastern Sprints, also held on Lake Quinsigamond Sunday. Princeton posted a time of 5:53.5, leaving it 4.6 seconds behind first-place Harvard. As with the heavyweights, three Tiger lightweight boats made it to the finals. The second varsity finished fourth in their event, while the previously unbeaten first freshman boat lost its first race of the year, taking third. The Princeton varsity heads to the IRA Regatta with the heavyweights May 30.

The men's tennis team (15-5, 8-1 EITA) came up on the short end of a 7-2 score against Harvard last Wednesday, meaning the Tigers finish the year in second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association behind the Crimson. A win for Princeton would have generated a league crown and probably a trip to the NAAs. Harvard held a 4-2 lead after the six singles matches, with only junior Greg Hartch and senior Kit Codik nabbing victories. The three doubles matches each went the maximum three sets, but the Crimson swept all three en route to the league title.

Tickets Now on Sale For NCAA Lacrosse

Tickets for unreserved seats for Sunday's quarterfinal lacrosse game in Palmer Stadium can be purchased at the Jadwin Gym ticket office between 10 and 2 through Friday.

Tickets will also be available at the gate within two hours of the 2 p.m. game time. A good crowd is expected to watch the Tigers play the winner of the University of Virginia/Towson State game, scheduled for this Wednesday.

However, there is no threat of a sellout in the 45,000-plus seat stadium. Tickets are $5 for adults, $3 for students.

Bill Tierney's men's lacrosse program received the NCAA certificate of approval Sunday. Three years after going 2-13 in his debut year with the perennially losing Tigers, Tierney's 1991 edition received the first-round bye that comes with the third seeding in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton will face either No. 6 Virginia (10-3) or No. 11 Towson State (9-3), who face off in one of today's four first-round matchups.

"Either way we will be playing a team with an inordinate amount of talent," Tierney said of Sunday's quarterfinal matchup. "It'll be a tough game either way."

Ivy League champion Brown (13-0) garnered the second seed in the tourney and will face the winner of the game between No. 7 Maryland (8-4) and No. 10 Rutgers (7-5) Sunday. Should both Princeton and Brown win on Sunday, they would meet in the semifinal round of the Final Four the following Saturday in Syracuse, N.Y. The Bears handed the Tigers one of their two losses this season, a 7-5 decision at Finney Field April 13.

North Carolina (13-0), the Atlantic Coast Conference champion and top seed in the tourney, will take on either No. 8 Loyola (8-3) or No. 9 Massachusetts (9-3). The other quarterfinal matchup pits No. 4 Johns Hopkins (8-3) against either No. 12 Michigan State (10-4) or No. 5 Syracuse (10-2), the defending national champions.

Home Tourney Game
Sunday will mark Princeton's second trip to the tourney, which began in 1971. Last season the Tigers, in the

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

Here's an amazing fact ... Of all the current big league baseball teams, there's only ONE that's never finished in last place in any season ... The only big league franchise that's never finished last is the Kansas City Royals.

This season is the 50th anniversary of 2 of the greatest feats in baseball history ... It was 50 years ago, in 1941, that Ted Williams became the last major league player to bat over .400 for a full season ... And, in that same year, Joe DiMaggio hit safely in 56 consecutive games — a record never topped in the majors, before or since.

I bet you didn't know ... that we are moving to 14 Main Street, Kingston, N.J. (the building next to the Canal across from the Wine Press).

One of the most amazing oddities in golf history happened at the 1989 U.S. Open ... Experts say the odds of it happening were more than a million to one ... What happened were 4 holes-in-one in the same tournament, on the same hole, on the same day! ... On June 16, 1989 at the Oak Hill Country Club in Rochester, N.Y., Doug Weaver made a hole-in-one on the 167-yard, par-3 6th hole ... Then Mark Wiebe did it ... Then Jerry Pate did it ... Then Nick Price did it ... Each player used a 7-iron.

ninth slot, upset powerhouse Johns Hopkins, seeded eighth that year, in a 9-8 thriller in Baltimore. The following weekend Yale blew away Princeton, 17-8, in the quarterfinals at New Haven, Conn. Sunday's game, then, will represent the first-ever home tournament game for the Tigers. To satisfy the large number of fans anticipated for the clash, the game has been moved to Palmer Stadium.

Before the bids were announced, Princeton still had to solidify its hold on one of the top four seedings. It was a little rough, but the Tigers managed to put away No. 16 Hofstra, 15-11, Saturday on Finney Field. The victory gave the Orange and Black 12 wins for the season, breaking the mark of 11 set in last year's sterling campaign. The 15 goals also gave Princeton a season total of 184, snapping the record of 179 also established last year.

Junior attackman and tri-captain Justin Tortolani led the offensive charge with five goals and a trio of assists. Freshman attacker Kevin Lowe also assisted on three scores, giving him 38 for the season and shattering a team record which had stood for 41 years. Senior attacker and tri-captain Chris McHugh popped in four goals, while the junior midfielder chalked up a hat trick to aid the effort.

Princeton led from wire to wire, taking a 10-4 advantage into halftime. The Flying Dutchmen came out more aggressive in the third quarter, cutting the lead to 11-7. Tortolani and Calkins responded to boost the Princeton lead back up to six. Hofstra rallied one more time with three scores, but McHugh killed the rally with his fourth score as the Tigers restored the 14-10 lead.

Waiting Game

Tom O'Connell's troops are playing the waiting game now. Having clinched the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League title May 5, the Tigers have been trying to stay in shape as they await the May 20 announcement regarding their seeding in the 48-team NCAA Tournament. No games remain on the schedule, though doubleheaders will probably be scheduled soon against Rutgers and Towson State.

Meanwhile, last week offered a chance for Princeton to test its mettle against some stiff competition. The Tigers traveled to Chapel Hill, N.C., for a three-game set with the Tar Heels, part of a home-and-home series begun last season when UNC took a pair from Princeton at Clarke Field.

This year was more of the same. The Tigers came close in each game, but could not muster a win. In the opener of a doubleheader Wednesday, the Tigers were held to three hits in a 2-0 loss as senior Rob was a different story, as UNC tagged the Tiger pitching for 11 runs to take a 11-3 lead after six. Princeton made it close in the eighth, erupting for five runs, but could not come any closer in the 11-8 loss.

Fedder fell to 1-3. The nightcap

The following day, the Tigers wasted a six-hitter by junior Kevin Butterfield in a 3-0 loss. Princeton stranded 10 men on the bases and 27 for the series.

Returning home last weekend, the Tigers fared considerably better. Saturday the Tigers swept Lafayette, 5-3 and 11-3, behind complete games by sophomore Matt Iseman (5-1) and sophomore Todd Taylor (5-2). Senior right fielder Richey Nash drove in two runs with a triple in the opener. Princeton scored six runs in the fourth inning of the nightcap to take a 9-2 lead and cruise to victory.

Against St. Francis the following day, Joe Greco's second-inning single plated the only run of the game in the 1-0 St. Francis victory. Fedder (1-4) was the hard luck loser once again. Princeton returned the favor with a dramatic 5-4 triumph in the nightcap. Trailing, 4-2, in the final inning, sophomore center fielder Jeff Schweitzer drove in two runs with a one-out triple to deep center field. Freshman third baseman Tim Taylor followed with a sacrifice fly to drive in Schweitzer with the winning run.

Hun 3rd in Track Meet; Fitch Is Raider Standout

Led by sophomore Courtney Fitch, the Hun School track team finished third last week in the NJISAA prep track and field state track meet at the Pingry School oval in Martinsville.

Hun, which scored only 13 points a year ago in the same meet, rolled up 32½ this spring to finish third behind Lawrenceville School (37) and first-place Seton Hall (45).

A big percentage of those points — in fact, half — came from Fitch. The defending prep state champion in the high jump, the 6-1 Fitch cleared 6-5 to repeat easily in that event. Fitch's winning margin was seven inches as Naeem Muse of Pennington School cleared 5-10 for second place.

Fitch also won the long jump with a leap of 21-1½ to capture that event by two-feet.

In the 400, Fitch ran a 52.2 to finish second by .5 of a second but his time set a new Hun School record for the event. "We didn't win it but we gave it a good effort," said Fitch later.

The Raiders also got another first from Ben Silverman, who won the discus with a 139-0 effort. Silverman was third in the shot at 47-11½. Doug Bullock, a halfback on the Raider football team, finished third in the 200 dash (23.97) and fourth in the 100 (11.7).

Although it finished fifth, Hun also set a new school record in the 4x400 relay with a time of 3:39.5. Eleven schools participated in the meet.

Final Games This Week For Hun Lacrosse Team

"It was a pretty ugly week all around," admitted Hun boys' lacrosse coach Dave Faus. In three losses in three days Hun was outscored 33-6 to fall to 5-12.

It began last Tuesday with Hun being eliminated in the first round of the NJISAA Prep A state tournament when it was defeated, 10-2, by Dwight Englewood. Dave White and Mark Krause scored for Hun.

The following day, Krause and Chris Walsh scored, as Hun dropped a 10-2 decision to Pingry, and on Thursday Clifton stopped Hun, 11-2, Todd Coyer scoring both Hun goals. Coyer leads the team in goals with 25.

Armond Hill Is Picked As Carril's Assistant

Armond Hill is expected to be announced this Wednesday as the new assistant coach for the Princeton basketball team.

A former standout player for Pete Carril in the mid-seventies, Hill went on to a career in the NBA with the Atlanta Hawks. A post-grad student at Lawrenceville before he came here, Hill has been coaching the varsity there the past few seasons.

Hill replaces Jan van Breda Kolff, who was recently named the new head coach at Cornell.

PHS Nine Is Ousted From MCT Tournament

There would be no big upset engineered by the Princeton High baseball team in the Mercer County Tournament for the third year in a row.

This year, PHS, seeded 15th in the tourney, went quietly, as it was knocked out in the first round Saturday, 12-1, by second-seeded Steinert. It was the fourth game in four days for the Little Tigers.

The results were not much better for the pitching-starved Little Tigers in their other three games. They sandwiched a 7-1 victory over Hopewell Valley Thursday for their second win of the season between a 13-1 loss to visiting South Hunterdon Friday and a 10-1 setback to Ewing two days earlier. The record is currently 2-12.

"At least we don't have four games next week," observed PHS coach Larry Mansier. Following a scheduled game with McCorristin, the Blue and White will host Lawrence on Thursday at 3:45 at its Valley Road field and visit Hamilton on Monday. After that, only a makeup game with Montgomery and a finale against Nottingham remain.

In Saturday's tournament game at Steinert High, the Spartans scored a single run in each of the first five innings until they put the game away with seven runs in the sixth. "Once again, we just didn't score," said Mansier. "In each inning we gave them four or five outs. Bad fielding."

Freshman Mike Procaccini, playing second for PHS, drove in Princeton's only run with a single. The Little Tigers were held to six hits, including two each by Ben Stentz and Jim Brophy. One of Brophy's was his eighth double of the season, "a big rainmaker," commented Mansier. Brophy leads the league in doubles.

Starter Matt Baum pitched well for PHS until he ran out of gas in the sixth. Mansier brought in sophomore Garrett Roberts to get the last two outs.

Spartan centerfielder Jim Hodge lined Roberts' first pitch right at Roberts. The ball hit Roberts above the ear and flared up where Procaccini caught the ball on the fly at second. Instead of a dramatic — and crucial — double play, the Little Tigers had to settle for one when Procaccini's double-up throw to first sailed over Chris Healey's head. As a result, "Steinert was still in it," said Mansier.

Eagles Fly

PHS and visiting South Hunterdon were locked in a 1-1 tie after three innings until the Eagles went 2-2-8 over the last three innings to soar to a 13-1 triumph.

In the second inning PHS tied the score at 1 when Brophy doubled and scored an out later on Baum's single. Long singled and when South Hunterdon booted the ball at third for an error, PHS had the bases loaded. Stentz popped out to end the threat, as PHS stranded five in the first two innings.

The Eagles, who had been involved in a 16-inning tie game the day before, started to hit Healey hard. Mansier brought in Aaron Cooper in the sixth but Cooper was tagged for a home run and a triple in the third of an inning he worked. Dave Long got the final two outs but his first pitch hit catcher Jim Brophy on the toe.

The toe was iced, but it was not clear whether it had been broken or if Brophy could play the next day against Steinert (he did). But the injury meant that Mansier had to switch veteran Scott Petrone from short to behind the plate and move Cooper from third to short. "Everything started to fall apart," said Mansier.

HOW CLOSE? THISCLOSE: The ball is three feet away from the outstretched glove of Princeton High first baseman Dave Long, while the foot of the South Hunterdon runner is six inches from the bag. Who won? Runner was called out by umpire who told Long, "You got him by a half-step." PHS lost the game, however, 13-1.

Clinic by Cooper

The previous day, PHS avenged an opening season loss to Hopewell by defeating the Bulldogs, 7-1. Cooper, reported Mansier, had a great day at third base in handling a half-dozen chances. "It was like a clinic: he went to his back hand, to his right hand and into the hole."

Hopewell, in contrast, made an error on each of the first three batters in the game, as PHS scored four runs in the first. Brophy drove in two runs with a single. In the fifth, Brophy doubled home two more runs, giving him four for the afternoon.

Procaccini made his varsity debut at second, was one for three at the plate and handled everything that came his way at second base. Colin Apse picked up his second win for PHS, limiting the struggling Bulldogs to three hits.

PHS began the week with a 10-1 loss to Ewing, Matt Baum the first of three hurlers taking the loss.

The one bright spot for Princeton was Matt DeVea collecting three of the losers' six hits. The sophomore is 12th among all County batters with a .400 average.

Williams Top Hurdler In County Track Meet

In the Mercer County track and field championships held Saturday at Steinert High School, Princeton High's Brian Williams was the lone winner for the Little Tigers, capturing both the 110 hurdles in 15.4 and the 400 hurdles in 57.1. Williams' margin in both events was .1 of a second.

Because he has been hampered by a hip injury for most of the season which allows him little opportunity to practice, Williams' triumphs were all the more remarkable. The Little Tigers came in seventh in the team standings among the ten teams with 27 points. Notre Dame finished first with 83½.

The boys' competition was highlighted by Nick Kutovy of Steinert who set a meet record in the javelin with a toss of 224-2 on his first throw. That was 29 feet longer than the former record held by Scott Young of Steinert and the second best high school effort in the nation this year.

The Little Tiger girls finished last in a field of ten with 11 points, far behind the 108½ amassed by first-place Trenton.

The best PHS could produce were fourth places by Ruth Williams in the shot put and Heidi Applegate in the discus. The Little Tiger 4x400 relay team came in fifth as did Ailey Penningroth in the shot.

In a triangular meet last week, the Little Tiger boys' team increased its record to 7-3 with a 71-60 victory over Nottingham and a 98-33 rout of Hamilton.

Nixon Grant of PHS won the 100 and 200 sprints and Williams captured both hurdle events. Gregg Kessler won the 800 in 2:07.9 and then teamed with Williams, Joshua Kanter and Jeremy Trelstad to win the 1,600 relay in 3:44.9. Second-place Hamilton was clocked in 4:01.

In field events, Princeton's Tim O'Brien won the javelin and finished second in the vault. Guy Romain won the discus and Tona Palomino the shot put. Finishing second were Trelstad in the 800, Dave Patterson in the 3,200 and Matt Pickens in the 1,600.

The PHS girls evened their record at 5-5 by slipping past Nottingham, 67-61, and defeating Hamilton by 20 points.

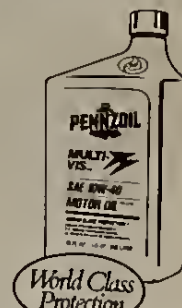

The team picked up most of its points in the field events. Penningroth and Williams finished 1-2 in the shot put; Williams won the javelin and was second to teammate Applegate in the discus. Tatyana Hille and Ariel Goettinger finished 2-3 in the high jump, both clearing 4-4.

In the flat races, Dana Litvack was the only first-place winner for PHS, sweeping to victory in the 1,600 and 3,200. PHS also claimed the 1,600 relay.

State Berth Clinched By PHS Lacrosse Team

Crunch time had arrived for the Princeton High boys' lacrosse team.

Tied 4-4 with Summit last week at the end of three periods and needing a victory to qualify for the state tournament, the Little Tigers rose up and out-scored Summit 3-0 over the final 20 minutes for a 7-4 victory.

Early this week, coach Jim Harris' squad was waiting to hear which team it would oppose in the first round of the state tournament which starts this Saturday.

A veteran and a newcomer got the job done for the Little Tigers in Summit. Tad Kinchla, the senior attack, scored three goals — his 18th, 19th and 20th — while sophomore Jason Battle, the transfer from Lawrenceville School, also netted three goals for the Little Tigers. Tom Murray returned to action and accounted for the victor's other goal. The win left PHS with a 6-5 record.

Following a five-day respite, the Little Tigers were scheduled to oppose St. Joseph's early this week and will host Johnson Regional this Wednesday at 4. Its final regular season game will come a day later on Friday when the Blue and White visit West Windsor.

PHS Girls Win, Lose

PHS athletic director Carol Parsons reports she expects to learn at the end of the week who Princeton High's opponent will be in the opening round of the girls' state tournament.

The Little Tigers, who clinched two weeks ago, split their two outings last week. On Friday in Montclair, despite three goals each by Sonya Soderberg, Elise Wilson and Caroline Bustamante, the Little Tigers were outlasted, 13-11, by the home team. The score was tied at six at halftime.

The 5-6-2 Mounties received three second-half goals from Meredith Bartown and four goals and an assist from Drury Thorpe, as Montclair enjoyed a 28-19 advantage in shots on goal. Sara Giller accounted for Princeton's other two goals.

Two days earlier, Princeton exploded for seven second-half goals to defeat an old-time rival, Hopewell Valley, 10-5.

Seeking its sixth win, Hopewell could not contain Soderberg or Wilson who scored all ten PHS goals. Soderberg had six, while Wilson raised her team high total to 42. PHS goalie Joan Sullivan stopped 15 of Hopewell's 20 shots.

Ficarro's Blanks Seasons; Mazzella Masterful in Win

There was no hesitation, no hedging by Bob Smyth.

"It was," said the manager of the Steve Ficarro Auto Body softball team, "the single finest pitching performance in a Ficarro uniform that I've ever seen." For Smyth that covers six years.

The veteran manager was gushing over Ficarro's new hurler this season, Carol Ann Mazzella, who limited Three Seasons last week to four hits in blanking the second-place team, 8-0. Mazzella did not allow a runner past second base and did not issue a single walk.

Shutting out a team the caliber of a Three Seasons is rare in softball. It has become even more difficult, says Smyth, with the switch this year by all softball teams in Mercer County to the United States Slow Pitch Softball Association (USSSA) rules which have a 10-foot arc ceiling. The Amateur

NOT SO CLOSE AT THIRD: PHS third baseman Aaron Cooper has all he can do to control the ball in this play at third as South Hunterdon runner gets in easily. Little Tigers were on the short end of a 13-1 score.

Softball Association, whose rules the teams followed last year, allowed a 12-foot pitching arc. In addition, the pitchers' rubber has been moved back five feet closer to second base.

The result is the ball comes in toward the batter on a flatter arc. "It has helped the hitters," said Smyth.

Against Three Seasons, Ficarro's banged out 17 hits, including 2-for-3 performances by Cindy Lombardo, Doreen Romanchuk and Janet Comerfort. Donna Nicholson belted a triple, while Beth Ault, Dee Discavage and Grace Durland all had two hits in four at bats.

Defensively, the Ficarro outfield was perfect. Lombardo had four putouts in left field; left center Romanchuk, who gunned out a runner at second base while running at full speed for the game's outstanding play, had three putouts; Debbie Smyth in right center had four more, while Nicholson in right was not tested.

"They've all played together for a long time; they back each other up," said Smyth.

Two days earlier, a different-looking Ficarro's team lost a 7-4 decision to Miller Lite.

Down 5-0 after three innings, Ficarro's scored four runs in the bottom of the fifth to close to within one, but "a couple of more errors and that was it," said Smyth. The usually sure fielding Ficarro club was guilty of five in the game.

Lombardo, Nicholson and Smyth each had two hits for the losers.

Currently tied with Miller Lite, Dot's Girls and Eagle Electric (all are 4-3 in the Women's Softball League), Ficarro's will next play surprising Mercer Spring (6-1) whose only loss this season was a 10-3 setback at the hands of unbeaten (7-0) Grove Plumbing. The game will be played Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer Park's Field 3.

On Tuesday, Ficarro's will oppose Eagle Electric at 8:30 at Mercer Park.

PHS Finishes Third In MCT Tournament

The defending Mercer County Tennis Tournament champion Princeton High failed to repeat last week when it finished third in the team standings. West Windsor-Plainsboro won the team title this spring with 34 points, winning the first and second singles title matches and both doubles. Peddie was second with 22 points while PHS had 20.

The Little Tigers had only one representative in the finals. At second singles Jason Cohen was defeated by West Windsor's Jamie Klitzberg, 6-0, 6-3. Cohen had handed Klitzberg his only loss in a regular season match earlier this spring.

In the consolation round last Wednesday at the Mercer Park courts, Princeton's Brent Breithaupt finished third when he defeated Hun School's Justin Bilik, 6-3, 6-2, at third singles.

Princeton's first doubles pairing of Phil Scott and Dan Wang also finished in third place by winning their consolation match with Mike Brown and Dan Ragsdale of Princeton Day School, 6-3, 6-2.

In the semifinal round, Cohen had defeated Jim Stefurak of Peddie, 6-4, 7-5, while Breithaupt lost to Peddie's Pedro Casamayor, 6-7, 0-6.

In the quarterfinal round, George Khalaf, Princeton High, number one singles player and seeded third, lost to unseeded Arun Naik of West Windsor, 3-6, 5-7. Khalaf had defeated Naik in a regular season match in April.

In the championship finals, Naik almost upset top-seeded Mike Miller of Ewing in a two and one-half hour battle. The steadily-improving Naik shocked the hard-hitting Miller when he was able to finesse his serve and volley play and capture the first set, 6-1. Naik then came within three points of winning the second set and the match. It was not to be.

The undefeated Miller fought back, forced a tie and then won the tie-breaker, 7-5. He won the title when he outlasted Naik, 6-4, in the third set.

Hun Nine Is One & One In Tournament Play

In tournament play last week, the Hun baseball team won and lost.

In the tourney it wanted to succeed in the most, Hun routed St. Benedict's, 13-1, to advance to a second-round meeting with top-seeded Lawrenceville in the NJISAA Prep A state tourney.

In the opening round of the Mercer County Tournament Saturday, 13th-seeded Hun was blanked 9-0 by fourth-seeded Hamilton. "It looks like it was a blowout but it wasn't that at all," insisted Hun coach Bill McQuade. The Hornets mustered four hits off three Hun hurlers, just one more than the losing Hun team.

Between those games, Hun held a 6-3 lead over Hopewell Valley but lost it when the Bulldogs plated five runs in the sixth for an 8-6 win. It's been that kind of year for Hun, which now has lost 12 of 19 starts.

"We have a lack of pitching in terms of numbers," summed up McQuade.

The season is fast winding down for the Raiders who will visit Wardlaw on Wednesday and then wrap up its regular season on Friday with a contest against Princeton Day School. Starting time for the intra-town battle is 3:30 at the PDS diamond.

Hun will end with its annual alumni game on Saturday.

10 Walks Hurt Hun

For Hun, the Hamilton loss was, to quote the oft-quoted Yogi Berra, deja vu all over again. "It was the same thing we've been doing all year: ten walks and we hit two guys," said McQuade. Five of the walks came in one inning and one of the hit batsmen came with Hornet runners at every base.

Greg Marra started for Hun, pitched well for 3½ innings until his arm tightened up. McQuade called on Sam Boraie but the sophomore walked three and was reached for five runs in the one-third inning he worked. Danny Wilson finished up.

Meantime, the 15-4 Hornets were getting the kind of pitching that McQuade had been searching for all season. Jim Dunnmeyer limited Hun to three hits — two by first baseman Jeremy Skule — struck out five and walked four in going the distance for his sixth win in seven decisions. Dunnmeyer lowered his earned run average to 0.72 with the shutout.

Against Hopewell High in Pennington Friday, things were going Hun's way. Boraie allowed just one Bulldog hit in the first three innings. Tom Chiacchio belted a triple with the bases loaded in the sixth to give Hun a 6-3 lead.

McQuade, thinking he would need Boraie in subsequent games, pulled Boraie and replaced him with Matt Hyldahl but the team co-captain allowed a hit, walked a batter and after a Hun error, the Bulldogs had tied the game at three before the inning was over.

Wilson replaced Boraie on the mound in the sixth and he didn't have it. He allowed five hits and five earned runs as Hopewell rallied for its third win of the season against 12 losses. Wilson was charged with the loss, his only decision this year, while Jason Belmont, who pitched two innings of relief for HV, got the win, his first. Hyldahl and Marra, the latter the DH, combined for four of Hun's eight hits. Hopewell also had eight.

St. Benedict's Battered

When McQuade walked across the diamond from his third base coaching spot in Thursday's contest with St. Benedict's, after his team had plated four runs in the first inning, the veteran coach said, "I hope we can score four more."

Hun did just that an inning later and added five more in the fifth inning for its easy win. At the plate, Hyldahl drove in three runs on two hits. Skule and Boraie also had two hits, each connecting for a double with Boraie driving in four runs. Wilson chipped in with another double in Hun's 11-hit attack.

On the mound, Skule pitched two-hit ball for four innings and Marra allowed no hits in relief during the last two innings. Each struck out four. Skule got the win, his fourth against three losses.

Hun Nine Is Ousted From Prep A Tourney

"This is it. This is the one," said Hun coach Bill McQuade Monday, the day of his team's showdown with Lawrenceville in the semi-final round of the NJISAA Prep A Tournament. Only a win over the Big Red, which had defeated Hun, 8-0, earlier in the regular season, could salvage a season that has been disappointing, heading toward dismal.

"They're going to come at us. We're going to have to score some runs," predicted McQuade. Hun did score five but Lawrenceville scored four in the last two innings to rally for a 7-5 victory.

What has dogged the Raiders all season — ineffective pitching and sloppy play in the field — just won't go away. They were present again against Lawrenceville. Only one of the Larries' runs was earned.

The victors' winning rally was typical of Hun's play this season. Trailing 5-4, entering the sixth, Lawrenceville loaded the bases on a walk, an error on a bunt, and a single. After McQuade replaced starter Jeremy Skule with Danny Wilson, Wilson retired the next two batters on short flies. Wilson appeared to have the third out when he induced first baseman Harry Himes to bounce a grounder to Tom Chiacchio at second but the veteran Hun co-captain threw wild to first, allowing the tying and

State Game Here Saturday
The Princeton High boys' lacrosse team will face Livingston Saturday in the opening round of the state tournament.
The game will be played at PHS, starting at 1. Should the 16th-seeded Little Tigers win, they will advance to a second-round contest against Montclair.

winning runs to score. Hun first baseman Matt Radtke then threw wildly to home, allowing a third unearned run to score. "That's been the story of our season," sighed McQuade. "The game was ours."
Typically, McQuade offered solace instead of reprimands. Said he, "I feel sorry for Tommy. That was a routine ground ball." Even Larry coach Champ Atlee commented that the visiting Hun team must probably feel that it had been robbed of a win. "They came to play," he said.

Hun had grabbed a 3-0 lead on a monster three-run homer by Wilson in the second. Hun added another run in the third off three Lawrenceville errors and Matt Hyldahl's single before the home team got back in the game with three runs in the same inning, combining two Hun errors, two singles and an RBI groundout.

Both teams scored in the fifth. Hun scored on an error, a sacrifice and Sam Boraie's single to take a 5-3 lead but the Larries answered with a walk, stolen base and two-out single to cut the lead to 5-4, setting up the decisive sixth inning.

When Hun failed to score in the seventh, its record dropped to 7-13 and Lawrenceville advanced to meet Pingry in the State Prep A final.

PHS Routs St. Joseph's 15-4 Monday in Lacrosse

What better way to prepare for Saturday's state tournament game than to have its two leading scorers hitting on all cylinders.

That is the situation the Princeton High boys' lacrosse team is in, following its 15-4 rout Monday of visiting St. Joseph's. The Little Tigers' leading scorer Tad Kinchla ripped the nets for six goals while Tom Murray, returning to his early season form, popped for four more. Kinchla now has 26 goals, Murray 20.

Dan Petrecca added a pair of goals and Phil Graza and John Hagios one each. For the Little Tigers, who outscored the losers, 5-0, in the final period, it was their third win in a row.

Tennis Team Victorious

The PHS tennis team also prepped for its first Central Jersey state tournament game by blanking Nottingham, 5-0.

PDS Baseball Can Win First Prep Title since '77

It remains for the Princeton Day baseball team to finish the job that lacrosse could not accomplish, and win a championship this spring.

And if the Panthers can win next Monday, this really will be special, their first Prep B title since 1977. They will face the winner of the Rutgers Prep/Wardlaw game (scheduled to be played this past Tuesday) on Monday on a neutral field.

TWO DOWN, ONE TO GO: Princeton Day pitcher Joel Totten beat Morristown-Beard, 5-1, in the Prep B semifinal. Totten beat Newark Academy last week in the first round, and will be on the mound Monday when the Panthers go for the title. (Jack Phillips photo)

The Blue and White already owns victories over both of these teams. In fact, coach Paul Brown's team has run through its entire slate of Prep B opponents this spring without losing a game. All that remains is to put the icing on the cake. PDS is 9-6 overall.

PDS will have its top pitcher, Joel Totten, rested and ready for the contest. Totten was on the mound Monday when the Panthers took a second step to the Prep B crown, defeating Morristown-Beard, 5-1. Mo-Beard had wanted to come down Friday to play the regular season game between the two, obviously to do a little scouting in advance of the semifinal contest. If the Crimson learned anything, it wasn't apparent; they lost 12-1 Friday and 5-1 Monday.

Totten was not overpowering on Monday, allowing seven hits, walking three and striking out seven, but he got men out when he needed to. Two runs in the first gave PDS all it would need, but it got some breathing space in the fifth, when it tallied three more.

Scott Feldman was the hitting star, cracking a long drive over the pagoda roof in right center that had the length of a home run, but was ruled a ground rule double. Later he smacked another drive to left center that went for a triple. Harvey Bradley, David Wise and Jason Powell all had one hit and drove in a run.

In the first round of the playoffs a week ago, Totten was in complete control during a 10-3 triumph over Newark Academy. Pitching a complete game, he limited Newark to just two hits, walked two and fanned 11 batters.

He also helped his own cause at the plate, knocking in three runs with a bases-loaded triple. Feldman also had a good day, with two hits and two RBIs, and he scored once. Harvey Bradley scored three runs, as PDS put this one away early with five in the first and three more in the second.

Last Wednesday, in a regular season game, PDS found the tables turned, as Blair Academy's Sal Santorelli pitched a no hitter en route to a 3-0 triumph. Only three PDS batters reached base, all on walks.

Princeton Day's Matt Rothfleisch pitched well enough to win most games, allowing just six hits, walking four and striking out four. All Blair's runs came in the third inning.

In the 12-1 rout of Mo-Beard last Friday, Michael Laudenberger went the route, allowing five hits, striking out nine and walking three. After scoring once in the first, PDS tallied six in the second and one more in the third to put this contest on ice early.

Dave Jackson, Bradley and freshman shortstop Matt Varhley had two hits apiece, as the Panthers banged out 10 in all. One of Bradley's was a triple as he knocked in three runs. Jackson and freshman catcher David Schragger had two RBIs apiece.

PDS completed its rampage through Prep B foes on Saturday with a 10-3 thumping of Dwight. Pitching for only the second time this season, Feldman (1-1) looked like a Joel Totten, allowing five hits, setting 11 DE batters down on strikes.

The Blue and White only had five hits, with Varhley getting two of them, scoring twice and driving in a pair. Rothfleisch and Totten also drove in two runs apiece in support of a fellow pitcher.

Prep Tournament Ahead For PDS Tennis Team

The last chance for the Princeton Day tennis team to make its mark on this season will come this week when coach Rome Campbell's players compete in the Prep Tournament at Pingry this Wednesday and Thursday.

The Panthers have captured 12 dual matches this spring, lost four, and last week finished fourth in the Mercer County Tournament with 18 points, behind West Windsor-Plainsboro (34), Peddie (22) and Princeton High (20).

The big winner for the Blue and White was Marc Wirstrom, who claimed the third singles title with a 6-4, 6-3 triumph over Peddie's Pedro Casamayor. On his way to the title Wirstrom dispatched all his opponents in two sets, beating players from Steinert, and Hopewell Valley in the first two rounds. In the semifinals, he knocked off Hun's Justin Bilik, 6-3, 6-4.

TWO FOR TROWBRIDGE: Princeton Day's Mark Trowbridge, a force on the Panthers offense all season at midfield, tallied the only two goals PDS could muster in its semifinal loss to Seton Hall Prep Monday.

David Suomi made it to the semifinal round at first singles, before losing to Ewing's Mike Miller, 6-1, 6-1. Suomi won two-set matches against Hopewell Valley and McCorristin players in earlier rounds. Also reaching the semifinals were Dan Ragsdale and Mike Brown at first doubles.

They lost to the eventual champions, Ogidi Obi and Gary Metelitsas of West Windsor, 6-1, 6-3. Rob Wirstrom won his first round match at second singles in two sets against a Steinert player, but fell in the quarterfinals to a Nottingham player, 6-4, 6-1. At second doubles, Chris Sheldon and Fred Sabb were knocked out in the first round, losing to Hun's Brian Kish and Tae Yoon, 7-5, 6-3.

The final regular season match was played Friday against Blair, with the Panthers cruising to a 4-1 triumph. Suomi was the lone loser, dropping a 6-2, 6-3 match. Both Wirstrom brothers were extended to three sets before winning, both dropping the middle set.

In doubles competition, Ragsdale and Brown won in two sets, 6-4, 6-2, as did Sheldon and Saab, 6-3, 6-1.

PDS Lacrosse Defeated By Seton Hall in Semis

There will be no championship for the Princeton Day lacrosse team this year either.

A year ago a strong Panther squad opted to play up a division, instead of going for an almost certain title in its own. It was quickly ousted in the first round by Hun. This year the Blue and White, again one of the top teams in the Bianchi division, stayed home, wanting to win that banner. It won't happen now.

Seton Hall Prep, an unknown quantity before the game because it had not played either PDS or any of its opponents during the season, rudely introduced itself Monday, winning 3-2 at PDS. Now 10-5 on the season with losses only to stronger teams in the division above, the Pirates will play Pennington for the title on Monday. The Raiders defeated Rutgers Prep, 8-4.

Only the fourth seed in the tournament, Seton Hall combined a dogged defense with just enough goals to edge Princeton Day. Led by Jud Henderson in goal, who had the "game of his life" according to coach Scott Spence, the PDS defense did its job. But an offense that never really learned to play as a unit all spring faltered when crunch time came. Two third-period goals by Mark Trowbridge, coming mostly on his superlative individual efforts, were all the Panthers could muster.

Henderson Outstanding

Only a series of outstanding saves by Henderson in the first period kept the first half scoreless. "Jud played an unbelievable game," commented Spence. "He stopped several one-on-one opportunities early, or it could have been 5-0 at the end of the first quarter."

Trowbridge's first goal, assisted by Campbell Levy, opened the scoring midway through the third, but Seton Hall knotted the score at 1-1 just two minutes later. Trowbridge broke open off a series of nice moves and made it 2-1 moments later, but again Seton Hall answered with a score.

The contest stayed tied until 4:42 remained. Using a man-up situation to their advantage, the Pirates moved the ball around and found an open man right in front of the net for an easy score. PDS had its chances as the remaining minutes ticked off, but could not come up with the equalizer. Levy almost got it on a nice move to the cage, but his shot deflected off the goalie.

"The defense played well," Spence said. "Offensively, we never got settled all season, we had a different offense playing for us every week." Suspensions, injuries and other pursuits were all part of the season, but it didn't seem to hurt the team as it breezed through most of its schedule, relying on freelancing to score. Against a tough defense, however, the lack of teamwork became painfully apparent.

Pennington Beaten

This game, played last Wednesday, was not as close as many thought it would be, with the Panthers taking care of business against Pennington, 9-5, last Wednesday.

The Raiders, who only began to play the sport a couple of years ago, had won seven of 11 matches, and lost to Peddie by the same score as PDS. But even with its squad depleted by injuries and suspensions, Princeton Day pulled away in the second half and had a comfortable lead by the fourth quarter. Pennington played its best in the first half, taking a 3-2 lead by the intermission.

Led by Trowbridge, who tallied four goals and had two assists, the Panthers scored three unanswered goals in the third, and added four more in the fourth. Steve Eaton contributed three, and Patrick Kerney, two.

Two more games remain for the Panthers to try to improve on their 12-3 record. They were scheduled to play Morris-town-Beard this past Tuesday, and will end the season against Montclair-Kimberley away on Thursday.

Dwight Again Beats PDS In Girls' Lacrosse Semis

An impartial observer might well point out that Dwight Englewood is only doing to the PDS girls what the Panthers did to it for so many years in lacrosse.

For most of the 1980s, Princeton Day won one Prep A title after another, usually at Dwight's expense. But since 1988, the Bulldogs have had the upper hand, and they proved Monday they are not ready to lose it. The Bulldogs won the semifinal matchup between the two, 14-6, and this one wasn't even close, as the last several games had been.

"We didn't play well at all," commented coach Kim Bedesem. "We just couldn't get it in gear from the beginning. We couldn't keep possession of the ball, and I felt we were one step behind the entire game."

"Only scoring two goals in the first half killed us. We took a lot of shots, but missed the goal at least 15 times. You don't mind losing if you play well. We had come so far to get to play the big one, but then we didn't play up to our ability at all."

PDS was in contention briefly at the start when it answered Dwight's first goal with one of its own. But the Bulldogs scored the next four to take a 5-1 lead. And when PDS finally got its second with a little more than a minute left in the half, Dwight came right back and made it 6-2 with just four seconds left. "That really killed us," Bedesem admitted.

DE lengthened its lead in the second before a trio of goals by PDS near the end made the score more respectable. Missy Collins scored three times, Sarah Berkman, twice, and Britte Lynam, once. Emily Miller and Cynthia Shafto split the time in goal. Bedesem had praise for Blair Young for her play.

Young and many of the other players will be back next year, and that had Bedesem looking on the brighter side by the end. "We lose only three seniors," she pointed out. "And the younger kids who now have been through the program will all be back next year."

Bedesem can at least be pleased that her players turned their 1-4 start into a positive 7-6 finish. But, for now, Dwight Englewood still has the upper hand, and will go for its third straight title against Lawrenceville on Friday.

Last week in the quarterfinals, PDS had little trouble with Oak Knoll, rolling to a 16-6 triumph. The score was tied briefly at 1-1, before the Panthers ran off a string of seven goals. It was 10-3 at the intermission, and playing the second half was just a formality.

Berkman had seven goals, Bencze and Collins three apiece and Marcy Webster scored twice. The highlight of the second half was Tricia Frank's, first goal of the season. The junior spends most of her time playing defense, but with the outcome no longer in doubt, Bedesem moved her up to offense to give Frank the opportunity to score.

In their final regular season game, the Panthers found themselves in a high scoring battle with Hopewell Valley last Friday afternoon. They trailed 8-7 at the half, but rallied for a 16-15 triumph. Berkman, Collins and Webster led the way with five, four and three goals respectively. Jesse Eaton tallied twice, and Rachel Bridgeman and Bencze once apiece.

The Faculty Room is where the Congress of the United States met in 1783, where it thanked George Washington for leading the nation successfully through the Revolutionary War, and where it received the news of the signing of the treaty of peace with Great Britain. This history was recalled by James Henderson '66, chairman of the Princeton trustees, who also pointed out the portraits of James Madison and Woodrow Wilson to indicate to George Bush that he was "indeed in distinguished company" in receiving one of the very few honorary degrees conferred in this room. 'Son of Our Older Sister' At 10:30, Edmund N. President Shapiro spoke the Latin phrases conferring the degree "honoris causae" and Chief Marshall John V. Fleming placed the orange and black hood over the President's head. Tugging at the hood to keep it from slipping down his arm, Mr. Bush recalled the last time he had been in Princeton. A spring day in 1948, with a bunch of "hyperventilating, celebrating Princeton alumni" standing along the first base line. An easy fly ball lobbed by the batter which I could have caught, except for the batter who bowled me over, to the cheers of the alumni. P.S. Yale won the ball game," Mr. Bush finished.

quility to this campus, as you have brought joy to my heart, my formerly fibrillating heart." President Shapiro told the President he hoped he wouldn't find it "unnerving to wear so much orange and black," and called upon the Assistant Dean of the Chapel to give the benediction.

The academic procession recessed, followed by Gov. and Mrs. Florio, Mrs. Bush and Mrs. Shapiro, and others in the Presidential party. White House Chief of Staff John Sununu was in the party as were National Security Advisor Robert Gates, White House Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater, and the President's physician Dr. Burton Lee.

Referring to the protestors outside, he said he could hear the "rites of spring over his shoulder, but said he hoped he would bring "peace and trantime to get out of his robe and get into his limousine. On cue, Borough and state police held up traffic on Nassau Street to allow the limousine to exit the campus by Nassau Presbyterian Church. Turning right, the limousine proceeded down a street empty of all cars and lined with only a smattering of onlookers.

History has a way of repeating itself. Twenty-five years ago, President Lyndon Johnson's limousine took a route from Princeton Airport up Moore Street just so it would pass St. Paul's School and the children could see him and wave to him. On Friday, a group of youngsters at St. Paul's school were out in front to wave as President Bush passed by before turning right again down Olden Street to Prospect Avenue and on to the complex of buildings adjoining the Woodrow Wilson School.

For a Better Camera Angle

There in what is now called Scudder Plaza, a platform had been erected in front of Corwin Hall from which the President was to speak. Originally he was to speak from a platform at the south edge of Robertson Hall, the white-columned building that houses the Woodrow Wilson School. But the White House advance team had decided that the camera angle was not as advantageous as it could be and that the angle of the sun at that location might interfere with the President's reading of his teleprompter.

So on 48 hours notice, the University Buildings and Grounds Department erected a new platform for the speakers in front of Corwin Hall, where the President would also have a building at his back rather than open space. Another platform was created spanning the fountain pool for the press with cameras on tripods.

The University Orchestra was assigned the original platform. On cue, they struck up Hail to the Chief and President and Mrs. Bush emerged from behind a row of 10-foot tall green screens set up along Corwin and Bendheim Hall. The President was wearing the orange and black striped necktie he had been given as a gift. Mrs. Bush was wearing a grey checked suit with pink lapels.

At some moment, a Secret Service agent placed the Presidential Seal at the front of the podium from which Mr. Bush spoke. A large orange banner proclaiming the Dedication of the Social Science Complex of Princeton University and the date hung from Corwin Hall, whose windows were covered in black material.

Orange and white flowers and green ferns were massed in front of the podium, and little clusters of orange and black ribbons decorated the top of white stanchions used to rope off different seating areas. Gov. Florio was applauded as he thanked the President for the job he did in the Gulf War.

President Shapiro traced the history of the Woodrow Wilson School complex. He said that it was President Eisenhower who suggested to Charles and Marie Robertson that "if they wished to make a difference in the world, they use their money to establish a center for excellence where public policy and international affairs could be studied and taught."

Tribute to Donors

He acknowledged the presence of former University Presidents Robert Goheen and William Bowen, described the buildings and paid tribute to each of the donors. He introduced President Bush as "yet another economics major, in his case Phi Beta Kappa, who has developed a subsequent specialty in public and international affairs."

RELIGION

New Minister Is Called By Unitarian Church

Paul S. Johnson will become the new parish minister of The Unitarian Church of Princeton this fall. He is currently serving the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Silver Spring, Md., and was called to the Princeton church at a congregational meeting last Sunday.

Dr. Johnson was born in Minnesota, received his undergraduate training at Trinity College, Ill. and his master's and doctor's degrees in theological studies at the Meadville/Lombard Theological School, University of Chicago. After receiving his Doctor of Ministry degree with distinction in 1975, he served in the Unitarian-Universalist Washington Office for Social Concerns. He was ordained at the Nora Church in Hanska, Minn. in 1976 and served as its minister until moving to Silver Spring in 1981.

His wife, Carol Rowan, is a social worker with the Veterans Administration, and the Johnsons have two young children, David, 5, and Kristin, 14 months.

Dr. Johnson was raised in the family of a minister of the Evangelical Free Church of America — a small Scandinavian denomination arising out of the pietist movements in Norway and Sweden during the latter part of the last century. "The church was the center of my life during my first 18 years," he says. "I was impressed with the church as a caring community taking corporate notice of the joys and sorrows of life, putting meaning into life's passages, and generally providing a center about which life might be meaningfully arranged."

He recounts that his religious pilgrimage through his college undergraduate and graduate years moved him away from the doctrines of his traditionalist denomination.

Active in areas of denominational affairs, social concerns and community action, Dr. Johnson is president of the Greater Washington Area Association of Unitarian Universalist Churches and has held numerous posts with the U.U. Ministers' Association. He serves as an arbitrator for the Better Business Bureau of Washington, a member of the Human Rights Advisory Committee of the Great Oaks Center, a residential center for the mentally retarded; and member of the Institutional Review Board of the National Cancer Institute.

James Johnson (no relation), president of the board of trustees of the Princeton church, says that the calling of Paul Johnson has capped a two-year search and resulted in "enormous enthusiasm" on the part of the congregation. "Paul is a great thinker and speaker, with an open and engaging personality and a deep sense of humanity," Mr. Johnson commented.

"Our church has carried out a program of speakers and musical events on our own for the past year, and the spirit of the church is high. But we are ready for the counsel and leadership that we will get from an outstanding minister such as Paul Johnson. We believe he will be an asset to the entire community."

Pre-Kindergarten Class Planned at Jewish Center

The Jewish Center will add a Gesher (pre-kindergarten) class beginning in September. Gesher is the Hebrew word for bridge.

The class is designed for children who miss the kindergarten cut-off in their school district and/or who need an extra year before starting a kindergarten program. The class will be limited to 10 children with two teachers.

The basic program will run from 9 to noon, Monday through Friday. Options exist for an early drop-off program at 8:30, lunch and afternoon extended day hours.

For further information call the school office at the Jewish Center at 921-0102.

Bulletin Notes

The North Central Concert Chorale will perform this Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 at Nassau Christian Center.

It is noted for its presentation of a wide variety of sacred music ranging from J.S. Bach to contemporary gospel and spirituals. There is no admission charge, however a free will offering will be taken.

For more information call 921-0981.

First Reformed Church of Rocky Hill will hold a Ham Dinner Saturday from 4:30 to 8. The cost is $8 for adults and $4 for children under 12. Takeouts and home delivery are available.

For more information or tickets call the church at 924-6450 or Barbara Whitlock, 924-4062.

Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, will hold a Rummage Sale Friday, May 24, from 10 to 5:30. Receiving is Monday through Wednesday, May 20-22, from 9:30 to noon. No shoes or winter clothes, please.

For information call 924-0292.

Princeton Jewish Singles will hold Shabbat Services Friday, May 24, at 7:30 at the Jewish Center. For more information call Todd at 275-1549.

First Baptist Church invites the community to share in the celebration of its annual Men's and Women's Day this Sunday. The Rev. James Kirk, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church in New Brunswick, will preach at 8 a.m., and the Rev. Robert Dickerson, pastor of Union Baptist Church in Trenton, will preach at 11. Music will be provided by the choirs of First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson, former pastor of Witherpoon Street Presbyterian Church, will be the preacher Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service.

Bush Visit

President Bush's speech began in a humorous vein with a reference to the "nude Olympics," a fairly recent Princeton tradition that sends undergraduates running naked out onto the campus at the first snowfall. The bulk of the speech, however, was a discussion of the tensions between the executive and legislative branches of American government.

"Consider the President's role," he began, "Thomas Jefferson once noted that a president commands a view of the whole ground, while Congress necessarily adopts the views of its constituents. The president and vice president are the only officials elected to serve the entire nation."

President Bush briefly defended his "inherent" power in making decisions such as committing U.S. forces to battle in the Gulf War, but spent more time talking about the domestic arena. He ticked off his legislative successes, including the Clean Air Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, and noted that he had vetoed bills that would have "weakened" presidential power six times.

He remarked on the proliferation of Congressional oversight committees and the reports they required and complained about the tendency of Congress to "bundle up" a series of unrelated measures and call it a single bill. He said he would continue to seek a line item veto that would "protect the American people from injudicious appropriation." Of the entire speech, this line alone brought applause from the audience.

At the end, the President swung into campaign-sounding oratory, saying he felt "honor bound to strengthen the marvelous system of government bequeathed to us so that we may remain the freest, the most decent, the most prosperous, caring nation in the history of the world."

Waving, he followed Mrs. Bush behind the green screens, into the waiting limousine and back to Palmer Stadium. Those who remained in the plaza caught a glimpse of the marine helicopter circling overhead on its way back to McGuire Air Force base.

It was all over, and it had gone well.

—Barbara L. Johnson

OBITUARIES

Gabrielle L. White, 17, Laurel Circle, died May 8 at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia.

Born in Princeton, she lived here for the last eight years and was in her junior year at Kent School, Kent, Conn.

Daughter of the late Philip B. White, vice chancellor of the New Jersey Department of Higher Education who died last year, she is survived by her mother, Constance L. White; a brother, Philip A. "Sandy" White; her maternal grandmother, Ellecia Lindo of Washington, D.C.; her paternal grandparents, Floyd and Grlene White of Washington, D.C.; a great-grandmother, Mattie Snowden of Dayton, Ohio; two aunts, Michelle Chapman of Detroit and Robin C. Johnson of Atlanta.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 4 at Trinity Church. Burial will be private. Arrangements are under the direction of Kimball Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Children's Hospital Foundation Cancer Research Center, Development Department, 34th Street and Civic Center Boulevard, Philadelphia, Pa. 19104.

Eleanor W. Bartolino, 69, of Lawrence died May 9 at home.

Born in Trenton, Mrs. Bartolino had lived in Lawrence for 41 years. She retired in 1983 as a purchasing agent from Educational Testing Service, where she had been employed for 22 years. She was a member of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church and its Altar-Rosary Society, the Mt. Carmel Guild, Lawrence Senior Citizens Club No. 1 and the Ladies Auxiliary of Lawrence Lodge 2413 BPOE.

Surviving are her husband, John J. Bartolino; two sons, John B. Bartolino of Lawrence and Thomas D. Bartolino of Yardville; a daughter, Joyce B. Arone of Lawrence and nine grandchildren.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Monday at St. Ann's Church with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery, Hamilton. Memorial contributions may be made to the Greater Philadelphia A.S.L. Association, PO Box 507, Norristown, Pa.

John Summerfeldt, 80, of Key Largo, Fla., formerly of Princeton, died May 8 in Tavernier, Fla.

Born in Trenton, Mr. Summerfeldt was a graduate of Trenton High School, Mercersburg Academy in Mercersburg, Pa., Princeton University and the University of Pennsylvania. He was employed by Fort Monmouth for many years. An Army veteran of World War II, he was a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserves and was also a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary No. 1308 in Key Largo.

He was past president of the Silver Shores Lease Holders Association in Florida and on the board of directors of Burton United Memorial Methodist Church, Key Largo.

Husband of the late Marie Sheppard Plummer Summerfeldt, who died in 1981, he is survived by his wife, Vera Holland Summerfeldt; two sons, David G. Summerfeldt of Kotzebue, Alaska, and Robert Summerfeldt of Huntington, W. Va.; and five grandchildren.

The service was held Monday at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, the Rev. Cynthia A. Jarvis, assistant minister of Nassau Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Church Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to the American Heart Association, 2550 Route 1, North Brunswick 08902.

Carl Weinrich, 86, Princeton University emeritus professor of music, died May 13 at Princeton Medical Center.

The internationally known organist was director of music in the University chapel from 1943 to 1973, and he taught organ at Wellesley College, Vassar College and Columbia University as well as at Princeton. He was known, too, for his recordings, which once prompted Time magazine to call him one of the greatest living interpreters of Bach's organ music.

Mr. Weinrich was the first American organist to record the organ music of Bach and other baroque composers, but he was also interested in contemporary music. He edited Schoenberg's Variations on a Recitative, dubbed one of the greatest contemporary works for organ.

Born in Paterson, he studied organ with Mark Andrews in Montclair and Marcel Dupre in Paris before entering New York University. He graduated in 1927 and was awarded a scholarship at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, where he continued his organ studies with Lynnwood Farnam and his piano studies with Abram Chasins.

In 1934, Mr. Weinrich was appointed head of the Organ Department of Westminster Choir College. It was around that time that he began his 30-year recording career, as well as numerous concert tours.

In his time at Princeton, Mr. Weinrich directed the University choir and the University glee club, and he became a scholar of the design and construction of pipe organs. He retired in 1973, the same year he was awarded an honorary doctor of music degree by Westminster.

Surviving are his wife, Annette Stewart Broderick of Princeton; stepchildren Diane and Willard F. Hamilton of California and Linda and William Miller of Hopewell; and a brother, Albert, of Chapel Hill, N.C.

A memorial service will be held Friday at 3 in the University Chapel, with former Dean of the Chapel Ernest Gordon officiating. Memorial contributions may be made to the chapel organ renovation fund via the chapel office.

C. McKim Norton, 84, former president of the Regional Plan Association, a private nonprofit group working for the orderly development and conservation of the New York metropolitan area, died May 10 of leukemia at the Brookhaven Nursing Center in Lexington, Mass. A resident of Princeton from 1950 to 1989, he had moved to his summer home in North Haven, Me. after his wife died.

Born in Lake Forest, Ill., Mr. Norton was graduated from Groton School and Harvard College and also from Harvard Law School. He worked as a lawyer and banker in New York City and as a lawyer for the National Resources Planning Board in Washington before joining the Regional Plan Association in 1940 as head of its staff. He left in 1943 for Army service in World War II. After the war he returned to the Association and served until his retirement in 1969.

Based in Manhattan, the Regional Plan Association devises long-range public policies on economic development, transportation, land use and other issues. It then recommends the policies to leaders in the public and private sectors in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey.

As president of the Regional Plan Association, Mr. Norton was instrumental in bringing about the creation of the Gateway National Recreation Area, a 26,000-acre patchwork of sites in Queens, Staten Island, Brooklyn and New Jersey established by Congress in 1972 with the intent that it become the first urban national park in the United States. Critics say it has suffered from insufficient federal support over the years.

In addition to advocacy for more recreational space in the region, Mr. Norton directed the Regional Plan Association in a campaign to revitalize the region's deteriorating transportation system. The campaign is credited with having played a substantial role in the creation of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority in 1968.

Under Mr. Norton's direction, the association also worked out a comprehensive regional plan issued in the 1960s. The plan included many detailed recommendations that emphasized the importance of rebuilding older cities and encouraging satellite commercial and business centers.

Over the years, Mr. Norton was a member of the National Capital Planning Commission in Washington, D.C. and vice president of the American Institute of Planners. He was vice president of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council and chairman of the Borough Planning Board. He was awarded the gold medal of the American Society of Planning Officials and the Distinguished Service Award of the American Institute of Planners.

Husband of the late Martha C. Hutcheson Norton, a pianist who died in 1988, he is survived by a daughter, Lucia Norton Woodruff of Austin, Tex., a violinist with the Austin Symphony Orchestra; a son, John C. Norton of Watertown, Mass., an art teacher and painter; a brother, Garrison Norton of Washington; a sister, Lucia Norton Valentine of Mercer County; and four grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held in late June in the Boston area.

Elizabeth H.A. Reed, 78, of Kendall Park, died May 4 at Princeton Medical Center.

Born in Hopewell, she lived in Little Rocky Hill and Lambertville most of her life. She was a retired employee of Bemis Bag Co. in New Hope and a former member of Mt. Zion AME Church of Little Rocky Hill.

Wife of the late Luther Reed, she is survived by four sons and two daughters-in-law, Calvin and Cynthia Madison of Morrisville, Pa., Vincent and Patricia Gillette of Princeton, Donald Gillette of Browns Mills and Reginald Reed of Flemington; a sister and brother-in-law, Dorothy and Lewis Spriggs of North Brunswick; 11 grandchildren; a great-granddaughter; and several nieces and nephews.

The service was held Friday at First Baptist Church, the Rev. Michael C.R. Nabors, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Franklin Memorial Park, North Brunswick.

Frank Rogers, 61, of Princeton, died May 4 while on a business trip in Tokyo.

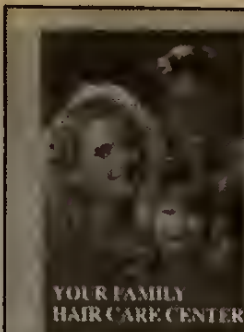

Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Mr. Rogers lived in Plainsboro from 1974 to 1983 before moving to Princeton. At the time of his death, he was working as a chemist for Terra Vac Inc. of Trenton, specializing in environmental toxins. He had also done research at E.I. du Pont and at Princeton University.

He earned his bachelor's degree from St. Francis College in New York, his master's degree from Brooklyn College, and his Ph.D. from the University of Colorado at Boulder. He did postdoctoral research at Ohio State University. Mr. Rogers taught chemistry at Skidmore College and the University of Dayton in Ohio. His research findings have been published in numerous professional journals.

He was also an artist and worked in acrylics, silk screen, computer graphics and mixed media. He had a one-man show of his photographs of early Greek and Roman sculpture at the University of Dayton.

Surviving are his wife, Rebecca; a son Dean, at home; two brothers, John of Pennsylvania and James of Newton; two nieces, Lynn and Dianne Rogers; and a nephew, James Rogers.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Friday at Queenship of Mary Roman Catholic Church, Plainsboro. The burial was in Brig. Gen. William C. Doyle Veterans Cemetery, Arnetown. Memorial contributions may be made to Queenship of Mary Roman Catholic Church, PO Box 759, Plainsboro 08536.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to N.J.S.A. 40:12-13, the Township of Princeton will sell real estate located at 7 Leigh Avenue by open public sale at auction to a qualified purchaser in accordance with the Princeton Township Affordable Housing Ordinance and the Princeton Township Housing Board Rules and Regulations. A qualified purchaser shall mean a person or a family whose household income at the time of purchase is within moderate income levels. The moderate income level shall mean the annual household income at the time of the purchase which is between fifty percent (50%) and eighty percent (80%) of the median household income. The median household income shall mean the annual median family income figure for the Trenton, New Jersey P.M.S.A. (the primary metropolitan statistical area in which Princeton Township is located) as computed, published and adjusted for household size by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, or such successor figure as shall be prepared and so adjusted by an entity or entities of the federal government, or such area or such figure that may be accepted pursuant to court order for the purpose of establishing median family income to determine housing price levels. The eligible family size shall be 5-8 persons with a maximum eligibility income range of $41,050.00-$50,150.00. Priority shall be given to any applicant who resides or works in Princeton Township or Borough. The sales price shall be $78,000.00. This property will be subject to resale restrictions to qualified purchasers within the moderate income level. The resale restrictions shall remain in effect until ninety-nine (99) years from the date of sale. The purchaser must adhere to certain additional restrictions, including the purchaser may not cause the sale of the property under foreclosure decree, shall cause to be paid all taxes, other government charges and assessments made against the property, shall keep the property in good repair, neither damaging nor abandoning it, the property shall be the principal place of residence of the purchaser, the purchaser shall not use the property as a place of business of the purchaser or any other person, the purchaser shall not lease or rent nor shall any use be granted by the purchaser to any other party without the prior written approval of the grantor, and the purchaser shall use the property in compliance with all laws, ordinances and other requirements of any governmental authority. In the event that there is more than one qualified, eligible bidder, a lottery will be conducted and the property will then be sold to the randomly chosen eligible bidder who can qualify for a mortgage loan, accept the affordable housing resale restrictions, and can close title.

Any interested parties may inspect the property on Wednesday, May 29, 1991 and June 8, 1991 between the hours of 12:00 noon and 6:00 p.m. Applications are available at the Township Hall, 369 Witherspoon Street, at the Princeton Public Library, 65 Witherspoon Street, and at Light Management Group, 247 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Completed applications will be accepted no later than 5:00 p.m. on Friday, June 1, 1991 at the offices of Light Management Group, 247 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. A downpayment of five hundred dollars ($500.00) must accompany each bid. Downpayments will be returned to unsuccessful bidders within live (5) days of the award of contract.
